Faubus Asks Ike To Stop FBI

Governor Appeals To Eisenhower

Terms Situation 'Explosive'; Says Arrest Is Planned

By The Associated Press

Governor Orval Faubus of Arkansas today said he understood federal agents are considering his arrest for balking integration at Little Rock's Central High School but this was promptly denied by the White House.

National Guardsmen again encircled the high school but nine Negroes who were turned back yesterday when they tried to enter the previously all-white institution did not try to enter this morning.

The heavily armed Guardsmen, however, tried to prevent a New York newspaperman's interviews with persons in a turbulent crowd of white segregationists in front of the school. Ben Fine of the New York Times said a colonel told him if he continued the interviews "you'll have to leave."

Fine continued and the colonel escorted him across the street. Maj. Gen. Sherman T. Clinger then told reporters at a hastily-called news conference, "You'll be arrested and fined if you do anything that might be inciting a breach of the peace."

Integration of the public schools boiled over into a federal-state power issue when Faubus, who surrounded his mansion with troops, also told of hearing his arrest is being considered.

Send Message

Gov. Faubus last night telegraphed an appeal to President Eisenhower to intervene in the stormy Little Rock school integration crisis.

As the governor's message was on its way to Eisenhower, Mayor Woodrow Mann of Little Rock issued a statement accusing Faubus of "creating tensions where none existed" in calling out National Guardsmen to prevent integration. Faubus urged the President to take action which would halt the threat of "interference of federal agents" in the question of whether Negroes and whites shall attend classes together at Little Rock's Central High School.

The governor termed the situation "explosive."

He also told the President that he had information that federal agents might be planning to arrest him.

Guard Setup

The governor also said in his message that he suspected federal agents of tapping telephone lines to the governor's mansion.

A small force of Guardsmen were placed around the mansion yesterday and another group was stationed at the city's only other white high school — Hall High, which so far has had no Negro enrollment.

Husbands Given Good News On Wives' Dresses

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Designer Don Loper made an admission today that could well upset the economy of the fashion world, but it's the kind of news husbands like to hear.

"I'm the only designer in the business who shows a dress for $39.95 along with one that sells for $39.95," he declared at the showing of his new fall collection.

"And I must honestly admit that the $39.95 dress is just as good a buy as the expensive one. The same thought, same workmanship, often the same materials, go into the cheaper one."

There is only one difference, according to Loper, and that is he makes a thousand of the $39.95 models but only one of the expensive design.

Loper, designer for many of the movies' biggest names, makes another point for husbands.

"Any dress, whether it costs $39.95 or $5,000, should last a woman five years at the minimum."

Kingpin Huge Narcotics Rackets Surrenders

NEW YORK (AP)—Harry Stromberg, alleged kingpin of a huge international narcotics smuggling ring, surrendered today in the office of U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams, ending a search by narcotics agents.

Stromberg, alias Nig Rosen, described as a prominent rackets figure in New York City, Philadelphia and Miami, was among 46 defendants named in a narcotics conspiracy indictment that was opened yesterday in the chambers of U. S. District Judge Edward Weinfeld.

He was lobbied the mastermind of an international narcotics ring netting up to 20 million dollars a year.

In surrendering, the 54-year-old Russian-born Stromberg kept a promise made through an attorney last night. The attorney contacted Williams and made arrangements for the surrender.

Narcotics agents had been searching the city for Stromberg without success.

Stromberg arrived at the federal courthouse accompanied by his attorney and immediately went to the prosecutor's office for questioning.

He was to be arraigned later before Judge Weinfeld, when he is expected to plead to the indictment and have bail determined.

Thus far, 12 have been seized here and one each in Atlantic City, N. J.; Baltimore, and Washington, D. C. The rest of the defendants are scattered throughout the United States. Three are serving prison terms on other charges.

New York's Labor Camp Faces Probe

Governor Okels One-Man Check Of Conditions

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman has approved a one-man probe of conditions in New York State migrant labor camps. He promises there will be "no whitewash."

The recommendation for the probe was made yesterday by the Interdepartmental Committee on Migrant Labor, which is made up of heads of seven key agencies dealing with migrants.

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People says the Negroes in some of the 1,004 camps in the state are exploited and held in virtual peonage.

NAACP Charges Harriman ordered the interdepartmental committee into action after the NAACP leveled its charges last week.

The committee met here yesterday. Herbert Hill, the NAACP's labor secretary, was the only witness. At the outset he said he was "fearful of a whitewash" by the committee.

Hill had accused operators of some upstate camps with maintaining a "20th Century slave racket."

Impartial Man

The committee suggested that it appoint an "impartial person" to conduct the probe with instructions to report to Harriman within a month. Harriman said he would go along with the recommendation although he felt the committee could do it as well.

The group also made six other recommendations for improving the labor camp system. These were similar to a program advanced by Hill.

The recommendations ranged from improvements in housing and sanitary conditions to laws strengthening state agencies' power to curb any exploitation of workers.

Teamsters Bosses Ready To Request Delay On Charges

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (INS)—The big Teamsters' Union today defied AFL-CIO demands that it carry out a housecleaning within its organization in wake of disclosures by the Senate rackets committee.

The reply to the federation's clean-up drive was presented in the AFL-CIO ethical practices committee behind closed doors by Union President Dave Beck. Beck was assisted by Gerard Treanor, Teamsters' attorney.

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leaders of the Teamsters Union are expected to give only a brief answer today to corruption charges pressed by the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee.

The Teamsters bosses were reported ready to ask the federation to wait until the coming Teamsters Union convention before passing judgment on whether the 1½ million member truck union is corruptly dominated.

But the AFL-CIO, having postponed four times in as many months a showdown with the Teamsters, appeared in no mood for further delay.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, repeated in Labor Day speeches that the federation can and will expel member unions which do not rid their ranks of corrupt elements.

Any expulsion of the Teamsters Union, the AFL-CIO's largest affiliate, could lead to bitter inter-union warfare, with the AFL-CIO trying to recapture Teamsters members and local union groups, and the Teamsters leaders seeking to lure away members from other AFL-CIO unions.

James K. Hoffa, Midwest teamsters boss recently linked to gangster associations in Senate rackets committee hearings, leads the Teamsters delegation into today's meeting. Hoffa is the front-runner to succeed Dave Beck as Teamsters president.

Dag Defends Smaller Countries' U. N. Vote

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld has hit back at critics who say the smaller countries have too much voting power in the United Nations.

In an introduction to his annual report to the General Assembly opening Sept. 17, Hammarskjöld said the United Nations is not a super-state but "an admittedly imperfect but indispensable instrument of nations working toward a peaceful evolution toward a more just and secure world order."

Raps Churchill The secretary general took issue with Sir Winston Churchill and other critics who want to give the major powers a "weighted vote," which would amount to more than the single vote they have now.

He declared that in any event voting victories "are likely to be illusory unless they are steps in the direction of winning lasting consent to a peaceful and just settlement of the questions at issue."

Upset By Leaders Hammarskjöld did not refer to Churchill or anyone but it is known he has been upset by proposals from leaders in Britain, France, Australia, Belgium and other countries for drastic changes in the way the United Nations works.

Hammarskjöld said it has been suggested that unless limitations on the present powers of the United Nations are removed, other means should be sought for obtaining world peace.

"This view does less than justice to the contributions of the United Nations in its short life," he declared.

President Says Story Not Correct

Press Secretary Reports No Plans To Arrest Faubus

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—President Eisenhower's headquarters said today it is "not correct" that federal authorities have discussed the possibility of taking Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas into custody in the Little Rock school integration case.

"That rumor is not correct," said White House press secretary James C. Hagerty in commenting on a telegram Faubus sent to the President last night.

Hagerty also said there is no truth to what he called another report "to the effect that U. S. marshals or their deputies have been ordered to escort Negro children to school" in Little Rock.

"Reliably" Informed In his telegram to Eisenhower the Arkansas governor said he had been "reliably informed that federal authorities in Little Rock have this day been discussing plans to take into custody by force the head of a sovereign state."

Faubus urged the President to see that no effort is made toward any such action.

Hagerty told a news conference the Faubus telegram to Eisenhower was delivered to the White House in Washington at 1:15 a.m. today—after the governor had made it public.

Delivery Time Hagerty noted the Washington delivery time and added "we have a rule" under which the President personally does not reply to telegrams or letters that have been made public before they reach him.

The press secretary said he did not know for sure whether that rule would be followed in this case. But he did say, in reply to a question, that in any event Faubus will get a reply—if not from the President himself, from an aide.

Hagerty said he talked by telephone early this morning with Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, who was in Washington. The press secretary said the substance of the conference was just what he later told newsmen—that reports federal authorities had discussed taking Faubus into custody were "not correct."

Hagerty said either he or the President would be in touch with Brownell by phone again later in the day regarding the Little Rock situation.

He noted Brownell already had announced that the facilities of the FBI had been made available for an investigation of suspension of school integration at a Little Rock high school.

"We look forward to the time of our lives," the President told an applauding crowd in the city's Washington Square after riding through jammed streets in an open car.

A bit later, he put vacation plans aside for a time and conferred by telephone with Atty. Gen. Brownell, in Washington, on the halting of integration at Little Rock.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said later that Brownell was "under orders" to keep Eisenhower abreast of developments there. Still later, Brownell announced in the capital that the FBI had been assigned to collect facts concerning any interference with desegregation at Little Rock's Central High School.

At Little Rock, Gov. Orval Faubus sent a telegram to Eisenhower last night saying "I am reliably informed that federal authorities in Little Rock have this day been discussing plans to take into custody by force the head of a sovereign state."

Faubus' Move On Integration To Hurt Party

Demos Fear Ruckus Will Wipe Out All Civil Rights Credit

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON (INS) — Congressional Democrats feared today that whatever political credit they salvaged from the recent voting rights battle may be wiped out by the anti-integration stand of Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

They see the Democratic Governor's dramatic action as an invitation for the Republicans to make an all-out "we told you so" bid for the Negro vote in 1958 and 1960.

"Thank God we got Congress out of town last week," was the frank comment of one Democrat on the political implications of the Arkansas school crisis.

Even some Southerners who share Faubus' feeling against school integration are privately worried about his use of National Guardsmen despite a Federal Court order for integration of the Little Rock Central High School.

Party-Splitting

They hope that the dispute somehow can be resolved in the courts. They are concerned that the party-splitting bitterness avoided in the legislative fight which ended only last week now may break out in earnest.

Few Democrats in Washington know Faubus and apparently none had any advance inkling of his plans.

But the Democrats in Congress know that, at the special urging of Senate Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, they joined in hammering out a compromise voting rights bill for Negroes — the first passed in 82 years. Republicans and Democrats alike called it a "step forward."

"The important thing for Johnson was that he succeeded in avoiding an organized southern filibuster which might have damaged his majority and its claim to 'responsible' leadership."

Last-Gasp

The last-gasp talkathon staged against the bill by Sen. Strom Thurmond (D) S.C., was not planned or approved by the Southern bloc.

An organized filibuster was avoided as a result of amendments which killed most of the bill's part three, violently opposed by the south, and provided for a limited assurance of jury trial in voting cases.

Strangely enough, Faubus' action has raised — in reverse — the very issue which the Southerners fought most vehemently — the use of troops.

Part three of the bill originally proposed by President Eisenhower and passed by the House permitted the use of federal troops to enforce court injunctions in school integration cases as well as in voting rights disputes. This broad approach raised a storm of Southern protest that such use of troops would return the "bayonet rule" of reconstruction days. The troops provision was stricken from the bill.

Asked to comment on the telegram, U.S. Atty. Osro Cobb said he knew of "no such conference." Cobb also remarked about the wiretapping statement: "Such a belief is wholly unwarranted."

Faubus told Eisenhower that the situation in Little Rock was growing more critical because of "impending unwarranted interference of federal agents."

Blood Shed

He told the President that if these "actions" continue, or if his executive authority as governor to maintain the peace was breached, he could no longer be responsible for the results.

Faubus said injury to persons and property would be caused and "the blood that may be shed will be on the hands of the federal government and its agents."

Scandal Gushing From Libel Trial Confidential Runs Dry

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The torrent of scandal gushing from the criminal libel trial of Confidential magazine has finally run dry.

Final arguments to the jury will begin tomorrow, the last day of the trial's fifth week in Los Angeles County Superior Court. The case is in recess until the dominant issue of the trial today.

Probably by the end of next week the jury of six men and six women will begin deliberations. It is a Hollywood theater trial — per will be up to them to decide whether Confidential and Whisper magazines, Publisher's Distributing Corp., Fred and Marjorie Meade and their Hollywood Research, Inc., are guilty or innocent of conspiracy to commit criminal libel and to print lewd and obscene matter.

Possible Sentences

If the jury finds them guilty of a felony, the penalty could range up to three years imprisonment, a fine up to $5,000 or both. The jury decides the offense is a misdemeanor, the term of imprisonment is less than a year.

The defense's final witness was a paralyzed former employee of Meade and their Hollywood Research, Inc., named Mrs. Jan Harkins, a cent of conspiracy to commit criminal libel and to print lewd and obscene matter. Mrs. Harkins testified that while working at the candy counter in Grauman's in the spring of 1954, she was told by a fellow employee, James Craig, that Miss O'Hara was "involved in a necking party" in the rear row of seats. Mrs. Harkins said she did not see Miss O'Hara in the theater.

Don't Lend Your Ears, They May Be Best Identification

By RENNIE TAYLOR

Associated Press Science Reporter

BERKELEY, Calif. — (AP) — Don't lend anyone your ears. They may be your best identification tag.

University of California researchers, spurred by the suggestion of a Chicago photographer of babies, are about to start a research project to determine whether the human ear changes shape during the course of life.

If they find it does not change contour, and that is what they fully expect, they plan to set up a system which could supplement or even compete with the fingerprinting as a means of identification.

The ear system might become the most nearly foolproof way of identifying babies and conceivably it could be a great help in criminology, said Dr. Douglas Kelley, One-Year Probe.

"After talking with Manuel Zimmeroff, the photographer, Dr. Kelley said he was ready to get behind a one-year investigation to evaluate the ear identification idea."

Zimmeroff said he got the idea from reading an account of the work of Alphonse Bertillon, French anthropologist who originated the fingerprint system. Bertillon mentioned ears as a possible standard of identity.

The photographer developed an ear camera which can be used inside the hospital delivery room. As soon as possible after delivery a rectangular cardboard frame is hung over the infant's right ear. It is marked off both ways in millimeters or fractions of an inch to give accurate measurements.

Start As Infant

A card bearing the family name of the baby, the name of the hospital and the date is set within camera range. A click of the shutter records the whole thing before the infant leaves the delivery room.

Flying Finn Twin Faces Court Trial

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Charles Finn, one of the embattled flying twins, was ordered to jail today for contempt of court.

He immediately threatened a hunger strike. Superior Judge Leon T. David ordered Finn held until he complies with an order to sign a letter of authorization which would enable the government to release a long-disputed war surplus transport plane to a creditor.

A contempt hearing against the other half of the flying twins, George, has been set for next week.

The defense's final witness was a paralyzed former employee of Meade and their Hollywood Research, Inc., named Mrs. Jan Harkins, a cent of conspiracy to commit criminal libel and to print lewd and obscene matter.

Mrs. Harkins testified that while working at the candy counter in Grauman's in the spring of 1954, she was told by a fellow employee, James Craig, that Miss O'Hara was "involved in a necking party" in the rear row of seats. Mrs. Harkins said she did not see Miss O'Hara in the theater.

Red China Wooing Overseas Chinese With Big Promises

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China is wooing overseas Chinese with a judicious mixture of business dividends, promises for increased educational facilities, and memories of the old home town.

Approximately 13 million live and work in other lands, mostly in Southeast Asia.

They are an important influence in their adopted countries and a valuable source of foreign exchange through remittances to the folks back home. Both Peiping and Nationalist Formosa seek their goodwill.

Peiping's latest bit of enticement includes promises that overseas Chinese who want to invest in mainland industries will be able to take half the yearly dividend in their own currency.

Hard-working, thrifty and ingenious, the Chinese over the years have reached dominant economic positions in many of the lands they inhabit.

Both Taipei and Peiping offer advantageous terms and scholarships to overseas students. On Formosa, a student may continue his higher education at a cost of little more than $10 a month.

The Reds are trying to quicken the old home town spirit by offering low-cost tours of China for groups of overseas Chinese.

Population of Canada is 16,689,000.

Egypt Made Offer

To Widen Suez Canal

CAIRO (INS) — A Cairo newspaper reported today that the World Bank has offered Egypt $100,000,000 to help widen the Suez Canal.

Al Ahran said the offer was made on behalf of the bank by Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, the retired U.S. Army engineer who handled Canal salvage operations for the U.N. after the waterway was put out of operation during last fall's fighting.

Population is well over 30 million.

Another factor has been a steady improvement in the standard of living. Mexicans can afford to buy things their ancestors just dreamed about.

Mexican Markets Continue Expand At Steady Rate

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico is becoming a businessman's heaven. Soaring demand is far ahead of growing supply and the saturation point isn't in sight.

"The Mexican domestic market continues to expand at a remarkable rate, and there is no likelihood in the foreseeable future that any saturation point will be reached," says the National Bank of Mexico.

One reason for this growth in demand is Mexico's rapid increase in population—3.1 per cent a year, one of the world's highest.

MAKES MAIDEN FLIGHT — Lockheed Aircraft's new 10-passenger jet transport—the Jet Star—is shown idling on the runway at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., just before it made its maiden flight yesterday. After hearing the military was interested in such a plane, Lockheed engineers rushed the craft to completion just 34 weeks after it was on the drawing board. The twin-jet plane can travel at 500 miles an hour and has a range of 1,700 miles.

Open Records Bill Delayed

BALTIMORE (U) — Action on a proposed bill to make local government records accessible to the public has been postponed for a year by the Judiciary Committee of the Legislative Council.

The committee acted on the bill yesterday after receiving a letter from the Maryland Press Assn., through its president Oscar L. Morris of Salisbury, which said the law is impractical and unnecessary.

The association said the press of Maryland in most cases now has access to the public records necessary to inform the public. Morris also wrote that the administration of justice may be hampered by legislation which defines what is or is not public.

Bedloe Island, where the Statue of Liberty is situated in New York harbor, was once an isolation base for quarantine cases arriving from Europe.

Shetland Pony Wins Title For Third Year

TIMONIUM, Md. (U) — Severn Firecracker is the grand champion of all Shetland ponies at the Maryland State Fair, for the fourth consecutive year.

The stallion is owned jointly by Severn Oaks Pony Farm at Arnold, Anne Arundel County, and Olney Pony Farm at Joppa, Harford County. Mrs. William H. B. Howard, owner of Olney, said that after yesterday's honors he would be retired.

Named reserve champion Shetland was Olney Bandaid, owned by Mrs. Frances Lee Naylor of Howard County. Olney Bandaid won the perpetual "Star Eyes" trophy awarded to the oldest and best known Hereford champion brood mare.

The day at the fair was a successful one for Hayfields Farms of Cockeysville, which walked off with six first prizes and had the champion Hereford bull.

Hayfields Farms won a prize as the best tilled farm in Maryland 79 years ago at the first Howard County, Olney Bandaid Maryland State Fair. It is one of the oldest and best known Hereford breeding farms in the country.

The farm is managed by Nicholas B. Merryman, a grandson of E. Gittings Merryman — president of the State Fair from 1892 to 1895.

OUR COUNTRY

The Union of hearts, the Union of hands and the Flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

A Worthy Plane

THE PLANE BEARS the quite ordinary designation of DC-3. But it is perhaps the most extraordinary commercial aircraft that ever took to the skies. Today there are only about 270 DC-3's in regular operation on 22 scheduled airlines around the country, mostly feeder routes. But once there were thousands flying all over the world, and altogether the Douglas Aircraft company built 11,000 of them. Soon there will be none, for Congress has approved financial aid to small airlines to enable them to replace the DC-3 with more modern ships.

BUT WHEN THE DC-3 began service with major airlines in 1933, it was quickly recognized as the steekest, most serviceable and most economical commercial craft of its time. In five years it represented 90 per cent of the nation's commercial fleet, and foreign lines also were using it extensively. In World War II a military version known as the C-47 earned the title, "Jeep of the skies." A transport workhorse, it did almost every conceivable wartime job. It freighted millions of tons of war supplies, carried paratroops over battle zones, bore the wounded back to base, and so on. Overloaded C-47's somehow struggled into the air, others, shot up and with motors failing, miraculously got back to ground safely.

AFTER THE WAR, however, the advance of aviation into bigger, faster, more powerful planes finally outdistanced the little two-engine ship that carried just 21 passengers and sat down on its tail rest at a sharp angle. But as the DC-3 goes into the last chapters of its long service, Americans are not likely to forget its stalwart, steady performance both in war and in peace. Commercial aviation really came of age with the DC-3. And no one can really measure the lift it gave the Allied cause in World War II. It has earned a firm niche in flying history.

Pushbuttons Plus

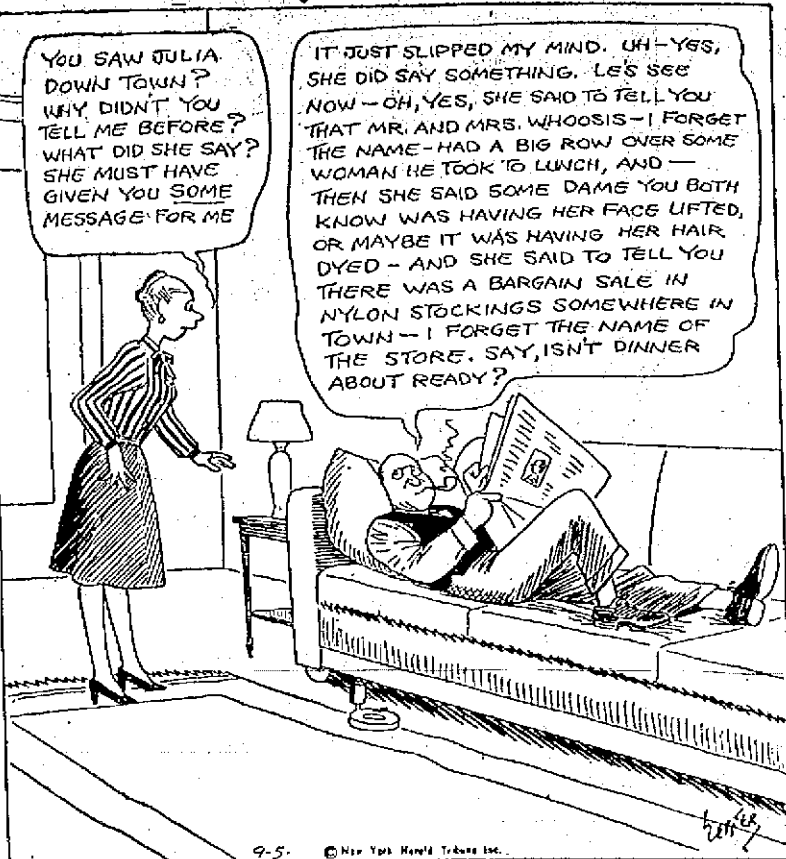

PEOPLE ARE ALL wrong if they think that the next war will be entirely a pushbutton affair whose outcome will be decided in a few days by a few super-bombs. Oman in Arabia, though a small country, has just proved that this is a fallacy, and that possession of some overwhelmingly powerful weapon does not solve all problems. Though the rebellion in Oman was put down by the British, they had to have foot soldiers to do it. It would have been absurd to use the atom bomb to destroy the small desert capital, Niwza. That would have been like employing a triphammer to crush a peanut. Could aircraft have done the job? Theoretically, yes. Actually, the world's sentiment is against the bombing of cities, with the attendant slaughter of innocent civilians. And air attacks on guerrilla forces have proved largely ineffective in Algeria, Malaya and elsewhere. Further, even if a city surrendered to violent bombing, ground troops would be needed to occupy and police it. No plane or ship could do either except intermittently. For all the pushbuttons, another big war would require great numbers of men. They will not be able to stay home and let some machine do the job.

Rising Profession

YOUNG PEOPLE who love dogs or cats and cannot decide about the future they desire might well give some thought to becoming veterinarians. The dog and cat population of this country appears to be on the increase, and people are spending an increasing sum of money for the medical care of their pets. The treatment of dogs and cats is much more advanced and scientific than it was in the past. Modern discoveries in drugs and medicine are now used by veterinarians. This is a profession which will become both more respected and more lucrative in the years immediately before us. It is not as easy as it might seem to treat animals, but the good veterinarian who learns to do this will find that he has a recognized place in society. He will also discover that his bank account is substantial. This is one of the many professions for which there is now a considerable need, and people with pets are commencing to depend upon the good veterinarian and to regard him with respect.

Business Must Prove Right To Survive

NEW YORK — Emotional economics—sometimes in the courts and occasionally in legislative bodies—results in a morass of confusion in linking corporate bigness with absence of competition.

On the contrary, there is abundant evidence in great American industries that, as titans compete, the competition becomes more intense than ever, and that the public receives benefits.

Thus, though the Big Three in automobiles account for 97 per cent of the sales volume, the current race for primacy between Ford and Chevrolet points to the reality of competition. Likewise, the comeback of Chrysler is extremely significant.

Some years ago when Edward R. Steilinius, Jr., was chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, he was chatting with me about the illusion that steel is not an intensely competitive industry. He disclosed that only the previous day Bethlehem had stepped in a mid-town New York situation and snatched a big order from an organization that had previously dealt with Big Steel.

In the chemical industry during the first half of this year when one of the bellwethers reported a shrinking profit margin as total sales grew, the chief executive officer of one company told me that prices in some items had been depressed by temporary overbuilding of facilities, especially by new competitors.

IN THIS BASIC matter of corporate bigness and competition, the United States has moved in a diametrically opposite direction from Europe.

In the Old World, where business units are smaller, competition is restrained by legalized agreements by cartels or associations of competitors, who divide the market and allocate customers.

On the other hand, in the United States, where regulation of big units is set up in the Sherman Act, the Clayton Act, and the Federal Trade Commission Act, among others, the effort has been to promote competition rather than stifle it.

The American law is clear against conspiracy in restraint of trade. The anti-monopoly attitude has caused agitation in some quarters for extending the regulatory principles to labor unions as well as to business corporations.

OBVIOUSLY it's good luck-bait to glorify small business and to exhortate against big business. But whether large or small, business with creative and efficient leadership are destined to grow.

Unabashed and without apology, Sumner H. Slichter, Harvard Economic savant, has pointed out why he thinks bigness is potentially in the public interest.

"Incidentally," the Harvard scholar wrote in the New York Times, "competition among larger firms is superior in quality to competition among small firms and serves consumers more effectively. This is because the greater research by the large firms gives the consumers a wider range of choice over a period of years than competition among a much larger number of small firms that can afford little or no research."

"The large firms are constantly experimenting with new features in their products which they hope will win the favor of consumers. Sometimes consumers like the new features, sometimes they do not, but at any rate they have been given a choice. In general, the wider the range of choice open to consumers, the more effectively is the welfare of consumers advanced."

WITH inflation pushing up costs, survival is the challenge to every business enterprise.

The trend toward mergers and consolidations is a phase of the effort to remain successful under changing conditions. Among the motivations cited for mergers are quickly changing technology, the increasing role of expensive research, and the growing power of labor unions.

It is childish to resist change as such. Nothing is permanent in life except change. But in the competition for public approval it is up to each factor to demonstrate that proposed change is progressive, not retrogressive.

Bigness by itself is neither an absolute virtue nor an evil. Bigness and littleness alike must continuously through good works demonstrate the right to survive.

Glancing Sideways

WACO, Tex. — The pull of a homeland is strong. You decide, now that you are back on native soil, to drive long and fast and get nearer to New York.

The first hot lap is 340 miles from Laredo to Waco. You also decide, while on the way, that you will call on Gene McKinney and his bride and on Harry Proven and his brood — and then he on your way. Don't ever plan things as patly as that if Waco lies on your path. It won't work.

YOU GET TO Waco at 6:40 in the afternoon, check into your motel, thinking of a long, cool shower, a light dinner and hoping to be asleep by 9 p. m. You sign the register—and they hand you a note. Harry is at the McKinneys, they are all waiting for you, dinner is being prepared at the Ridgewood Country Club and Fred Cress has been superintending it since morning.

You get into the cleanest and least wrinkled clothes you can find, put on your first necktie in six weeks, see to it that your bride and young are shining and dustless and promptly at 7:30 they pick you up.

In 15 minutes you are in a country club air-conditioned to a crisp coolness and two jai alai court-sized platters of hors d'oeuvres are being served. Then comes a dinner which Fred has concocted from his memories of Europe and the United States, a blend of international cooking with Texas opulence.

IT TAKES three hours to serve and enjoy, a feast of perfect choices perfectly cooked and put down. From Shrimps Acapulco to steaks with a French sauce to a dessert of chilled clouds, it is a dinner without flaw.

Your table companions are Mrs. Harlen Fentress and Mrs. Cress and Mrs. Fentress tells you about her plans for her daughter's wedding a week ahead. Mrs. Cress talks of Germany and German cooking. Near midnight, scarcely able to stir, you thank them all and say good-bye.

"There's no good-bye," says Harry. "You will be at our house tomorrow night for dinner at 7:30."

THE PROVENCES live in a large white house cooled by fans and blowers large enough to frost Hoover Dam. At 7:30 you walk in and greet, as old, dear friends, Lucille and Holt Massey, and join the McKinneys and the Paul Bakers.

Paul is director and manager of the Baylor Theatre, a university theatre to which stars of Broadway, like Charles Laughton and Burgess Meredith, come eagerly and with enthusiasm, working with students on new horizons in production.

This dinner, too, is a poem (even if the staff of Harry's paper writes a satire on your style and your references to good cooking as being poetic). The fried chicken is as light as down, the hot biscuits are like feathers. It is a Southern dinner in the truest and best tradition and the talk during it is colorful and stimulating. You sit there thinking what a wrench it will be to leave Waco and these people of heart. You plan to leave in the morning.

When midnight comes you say good-bye and make your manners—and Holt Massey comes over.

"YOU CAN'T leave in the morning," he says. "I'm picking you up at 10 o'clock to go out on the lake and then we'll find some lunch and tomorrow night we are giving a dinner for you at the country club. You'll have to change your plans."

Did anyone in the house ever try to say "no" to Holt Massey?

You're a soft touch. You didn't want to leave, anyway. So, for the second night, you go back to Bill Woods Tam O'Shanter and lie down to sleep, convinced that breaking out of Waco is like breaking out of Fort Knox once you have strayed into it; it can't be done.

Gone But Not Forgotten

WASHINGTON—The time has come to say a fond farewell to the gentlemen, to wish happy sitting to those staying home on their own piazzas, and to trust that the others traveling in far places—at my expense and yours—learn something.

Congress, I mean, has adjourned until next year and I am sad. Now I've got to go to work, looking under rocks for news, and I don't relish the prospect.

It was much easier to stake out a stool in the Press Gallery and merely sit there, feeling limp, until the statesmen stirred up some excitement in the pit below. This they nearly always did, in plenty of time for my deadline, and earning a living was a breeze.

THEY DID LET me down a little, though, this session. They had, for a change, not one fist fight. The gentlemen did manage to do some elegant name-calling; this reached its peak when Senator Robert S. Kerr said flatly one afternoon that President Eisenhower had no brains.

This looked brutal next morning in the black print of the Congressional Record and Senator Kerr tried to soften his statement by changing the words to "no fiscal brains." Senator Homer Capehart wouldn't let him do this under the rules and that's when Senatorial courtesy flew out the swinging doors.

SENATOR Capehart even now is on his way to investigate Russia. The lawgivers, some 130 of them counted so far, are scheduled to travel on official business to spots all over the globe.

A number of them will find themselves en route for a while in Paris, Rome, London and other attractive places, but that of course will be incidental.

They're investigating stuff solely for legislative purposes. That's what it says here on the authorizations and I have yet to find a gentleman who will admit otherwise. Fair enough. I'll not argue with 'em.

THE HOUSE did, however, refuse to adopt a resolution calling for an accounting of the cash spent by each traveling Congressman, and this in itself looks suspicious to Representative H. R. Grose who will travel nowhere except back to Waterloo. He says a scandal is in the making.

I took my usual stool in the Senate gallery for the final rites and found Senator Lyndon Johnson, the majority leader, congratulating the Senators for doing such an elegant job. He said they could be proud.

After all, he continued, Mr. Eisenhower sent 155 recommendations to Congress and it acted on half of them. Senator Johnson said he did believe when the President sat down now at home and calmly studied the record he wouldn't feel so disappointed.

THIS CAUSED Senator William F. Knowland, the minority leader, to croak that he hoped the spade work done so far would lead to more accomplishments next year. His voice was hoarse; he sounded almost like a victim of Asiatic flu. He then paid tribute to the other Senators, their helpers, the Capitol police, the official reporters, the messengers and the pages.

Senator George Aiken said he'd forgotten the telephone operators. So these ladies got some verbal tribute, too. As I say, I'm going to miss the gentlemen. May they return in January, refreshed.

Dosage

THE BIOLOGISTS know more than any other men do about the potential dangers of radiation to human tissues. The biologists are the first to acknowledge that we do not know enough about these dangers to make a sensible estimate of them.

These two related facts comprise an unmistakable caution signal for laymen considering the question of future nuclear weapons tests.

There seems to be growing evidence that such tests are more dangerous, to this and succeeding generations, than had been supposed.

The latest of such evidence was presented by Dr. Michael A. Bender of Johns Hopkins University at the annual meeting of the American Institute of Biological Sciences. He reported on experiments which indicate that the average "maximum permissible dose" of radiation set by the National Academy of Sciences is too high.

Dr. Bender and his associates subjected normal human cells to known doses of radiation and carefully measured the damage. If the amount of damage is borne out by further tests, he said, the so-called permissible dose figure will have to be sharply revised downward.

This is by no means the last word on the subject. Much further experimentation must be done. But the results thus far show how foolish it is for the great powers to go ahead with test explosions, each of which adds to the amount of radioactive particles in the atmosphere. The tests should be suspended, or at least held to a minimum, until the biologists have given us a more conclusive answer.

So They Say

I feel that no matter what I write, as long as it is truthful it is not obscene.

—Author William Bradford Huie, in testimony at trial of Confidential magazine.

If Pete Rademacher's an amateur, he's a darned good one. —Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson, after knocking Rademacher out.

We regret very much that General Motors has again demonstrated shortsightedness by its arbitrary rejection of our practical and positive proposal (to cut $100 off price of 1958 cars).

—President Walter Ruther of the United Auto Workers Union.

He (Clark Gable) wouldn't do a thing like that to me (reveal details of their marriage to a Confidential magazine agent).

—Mrs. Josephine Dillen, the actor's first wife.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—The chances are that, if asked to name the tune played most often in public in the last 10 years, you'd name the wrong one.

The right answer is "The Star Spangled Banner."

"It is played at least 225,000 times a month on radio and TV stations alone," said Israel Diamond, a slender, bald, 40-year-old accountant who is one of America's leading song statisticians.

Diamond is the logging director of Broadcast Music, Inc. His job is to find out how often each of the 150,000-plus BMI songs are played so that the composers and publishers who own the copyright can be paid.

This task, little understood by the public, is vitally important to the "June and Moon" rhymers, a large chunk of whose income comes from the nation's radio and TV stations.

A COMPOSER GETS three cents from each station every time his tune is played over a TV or radio network. This is easy to figure out as the networks keep a complete list of every tune played.

Diamond and a staff of 50 logging editors then go over the lists and pick out the BMI tunes.

Coded cards for the tunes are then put into data machines which electronically add and multiply the figures from the scientific sample to reckon the final payment.

One of the staff's small chores was to figure out a code name for the song, "You Two-Timed Me Once Too Often." They finally came up with this result:

"U-2-X-Me-I-X-2-often."

The log editors develop fabulous memories for song titles.

"I guess I can remember 35,000 to 40,000 songs offhand," said Ed Lecomte, 52, a former Broadway actor who has been a tune logger for eight years. "But no one in a lifetime could learn them all. There are millions of songs."

HE HAS LEARNED some odd lore about songs. Such as that the BMI files list some 450 songs that start "I love," but only 36 that begin "I hate." One of the latter, probably written by a dandyman, is "I Hate You, Mississippi."

"Although 'love' is by far the word used most often in songs," remarked Lecomte, "religious interest also is showing up more and more in song titles. We have about 500 that start with 'Jesus.'"

Although BMI's staff also spot checks bands, ballrooms, football stadiums, restaurants, hotels, baseball parks and piped music systems to be sure their music isn't being pirated, more than 90 per cent of its income comes from radio and TV stations. After charting the performance of innumerable tunes, Diamond wryly admitted he sometimes is thinking of turning out a little ditty himself.

NEW YORK — Mr. Walter O'Keefe, a man who chanced his first airplane ride in 1912 and has been up and down ever since in the scalloped swath of radio, was phoning a telegram to Western Union the other evening.

He gave the operator his phone number.

"Under what name is that registered, sir?" she asked.

"Walter O'Keefe," said O'Keefe.

"Gee," she pondered. "Whatever happened to him?"

Well, he is sitting here in a black-and-white striped shirt, tortoise shell spectacles and an aura of philosophy, and he is saying, "I'm writing verse, what else?"

He also has a four nights weekly show called "Nightline" on NBC radio, but that is so customary in O'Keefe's entertaining past it scarcely calls for mention.

"THERE ARE TIMES for thinking, and whatever man is thinking comes out in verse," he says. "I remember when Lindbergh crossed that Atlantic—3,000 verses came in to one New York City paper alone, with people rhyming how they felt."

"So now men are worried about how things are going (for some reason, the world seems a little upset to everybody), and they're writing hymns. I've written one too, not because it's a trend, but because this hymn occurred to me, that's all."

O'Keefe's contribution to a troubled world would appear typical of the philosophy of a man who has been for more than a quarter-century engaged, good-humoredly but never complacently, in the most whimsical of professions. One day you give a sensational show and are in demand; the next, a misstep may lead to a dropping of sponsors and the mortgage on the home-stand.

HIS HYMN DOESN'T ask for a lifetime of peace, or even for a 13-week contract on contentment. With the kind permission of G. Schirmer, the songwriter quotes the verse intended to help others like himself who have learned enough of life not to ask for miracles:

"The Lord is showing me how to live, Just one day at a time.

I ask for something I know he'll give, Just one day at a time.

My prayer is one I can share with you, dear Lord,

Help me to do what I ought to do, And give me the strength to carry me through.

Just one day at a time.

At last I'm learning to lean on the Lord,

Just one day at a time.

The peace I know is enough reward, Just one day at a time.

May every day be a work of art, In which I may play a humble part.

I pray for an understanding heart, Just one day at a time."

WALTER O'KEEFE started his career as a song-writer in the '20's, before he became known as an entertainer, but the only song he has copyrighted is his version of "The Man On The Flying Trapeze." It made him famous in Broadway's "The Little Show" in the early 1930's.

In those days men needed, mentally and emotionally, to "think high"—hence the rollicking trapeze number. Now, in the '50's, men need, spiritually, even loftier thoughts. O'Keefe, who knows a shaky format when he sees one, is doing his bit.

Uncle Sam Has Troubles With Skip Tracers

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—U.S. Secret Service has adopted a form letter to answer a flood of inquiries and to warn people against various "skip-tracer" outfits which misrepresent themselves as government agencies.

What the skip tracers are actually doing is trying to locate people who may have run out on unpaid bills.

This collection agency business has been bothering the U. S. Treasury, Post Office and Federal Trade Commission for years.

As FTC Chairman John W. Gwynne put it in one of his recent orders, "The government agrees that debtors should pay their just debts and that creditors should not be denied any lawful means to collect them. But the FTC Act prohibits those practices which have a tendency and a capacity to deceive."

THE GIMMICK complained of in this case was a business form headed, "Treasurer's Office. Disbursement Notice." On the card was a picture of a building which looked very much like the U.S. Treasury, building in Washington, with an official-looking seal and an American eagle—wings spread rampant.

The form provided blank spaces for filling in correct name, present address and present employer. The card said a sum of money, due the addressee, would be paid if the information was filled in and mailed in a pre-addressed envelope, to "Treasurer's Office, Headquarters Building Washington, D. C."

Anyone filling in the card might or might not eventually get a check for ten cents, but this was purely incidental.

Real purpose of the card was to try to locate someone who had moved away from a community where he had owed money on a charge account or installment purchase.

The cards are sent to old addresses or suspected new addresses. In many cases the post office system is left to do a good deal of the hunting in attempting to deliver the mail.

HUNDREDS of complaints from people saying they had not been paid the sums due from what they considered to be a government agency caused the Treasury Department to get out its form letter reply, saying in part:

"From your description, it is apparent you have received a communication from a private firm which uses that method to obtain the present location of alleged delinquent debtors. The form was not mailed by the United States Treasury.

"The Federal Trade Commission, Washington 25, D.C., is presently conducting an investigation regarding this activity. If you receive any more such material, it is suggested that it be forwarded to the Federal Trade Commission. Very truly yours, (Signed) U. E. Baughman, Chief, U.S. Secret Service."

ACTUALLY, FTC has been trying to clean up the off-color skip tracers for a long time.

To the layman it might seem that cases of this kind involved use of the mails to defraud—even though the legitimate purpose is to collect a bad debt. But the Post Office Department says it is precluded from initiating prosecutions in this field by findings in U.S. courts.

Judge Alexander Holtzoff gave a key decision in 1948. He indicated, in essence, that prosecution of alleged skip tracers did not come under mail fraud statutes. He condemned the tactics. But he indicated it would be necessary to prove fraud against alleged skip tracers involving money or property.

Inasmuch as they were merely seeking addresses of persons—not money or property—post office attorneys say they do not believe Department of Justice could successfully prosecute skip tracers under the mail fraud laws.

This gives the skip tracers a wide latitude in which to operate. Some of their more ingenious devices for locating debtors will be reviewed in this space in the next issue.

Only Small Slice Made In Budget, Bureau Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Budget Bureau came up today with figures designed to show that Congress thus far has cut only 923 million dollars from President Eisenhower's $73,300,000,000 appropriation budget.

That is roughly what Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday. It varies greatly from congressional claims of cuts running up to six billion dollars.

The Budget Bureau said Congress cut 451 million dollars by refusing to authorize a school construction program, and 477 million dollars by shoving the President's request for foreign aid funds.

It said the further apparent reductions by Congress totaled three billion dollars but said this figure is not valid since much of it will have to be made up in supplemental appropriations and still more represents only "paper cuts" with no actual savings.

The bureau listed 332 million dollars which Congress cut from such programs as veterans' pensions and benefits, unemployment compensation grants to the states, public assistance grants and merchant marine subsidies.

These, the bureau said, are mandatory programs established by law and the cuts probably will have to be restored.

The bureau listed another $1,308,000,000 as "paper cuts." This included $28 million dollars for advance programming of Defense Department purchasing. This, a Budget Bureau spokesman said, will cut appropriations this year but will have to be added to the fiscal 1959 budget which the President will send to Congress in January.

In a list of items which the Budget Bureau said might require supplemental appropriations before the fiscal year ends next June 30 was an 850-million-dollar item for postal and civil service pay raises. This bill is now on the President's desk and there have been strong indications he plans to veto it.

Two other similar items called for 170 million dollars for liberalization of veterans' disability compensation and 57 million for school construction in federally impacted areas. These three items total about $1,087,000,000.

Ridgeley Names Police Assistant

Ernest W. Twigg Sr., 25, of 22 Central Avenue, Ridgeley, has been named assistant chief of police of the Ridgeley police department. He replaces Blair Haines, who resigned to accept work in industry.

Assistant Chief Twigg has been a member of the special police department of that community for the past seven months, and assumed his duties on the first of this month. He was approved for the job by the Mayor and Council.

A graduate of Port Hill High School in 1950, he served six years in the Army.

He is also employed at the R. F. Goodrich Company store here. Police Chief Jack Cornet said there are six members of the special police force.

Assistant Chief Twigg is married and is the father of two children.

State Solons Wanting Lower Bay Bridge Tolls

BALTIMORE (AP) — Consulting engineers have recommended lower tolls for the Chesapeake Bay Bridge. But the figure mentioned is not low enough as far as some Maryland legislators are concerned.

State Roads Commission officials announced the proposed changes — involving other toll facilities as well — at a meeting yesterday of the Legislative Council.

FIRST POLICEWOMAN — Mrs. Betty Williams, wife of William F. Williams, 106 1/2 LeFevre Road, yesterday began her duties as Cumberland's first fulltime policewoman. Selected from a group of eight applicants for the position, Mrs. Williams will undergo various phases of training before she actually begins her police duties. Her work will center primarily around juveniles and young girls, according to Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn.

College Has Tiny Chapel

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Transylvania College has one of the smallest churches in the South. The 11 by 12 foot chapel was constructed and furnished in 1952 by Theta chapter of Phi Kappa Tau, a social fraternity on the campus.

The chapel, seating 12 persons, was dedicated in honor of Dr. Harvey A. Wright, now emeritus professor of mathematics at Transylvania. The altar was dedicated to the memory of Dr. E. W. Delcamp who died in September, 1952, after nearly 50 years of service to the college.

Among the furnishings is a Bible printed in 1880.

Instructors Appointed To Allegany Hi

Two area teachers have accepted positions at Allegany High School which reopened for the fall term this morning.

Richard Rizer, assistant superintendent of schools, said Robert E. Nelson, of Frostburg, will teach English at Allegany High School, replacing Gene Shaw, who resigned to accept a teaching position in New Jersey.

A graduate of Beall High School in 1947, Nelson completed his studies at Frostburg State Teachers College this year.

While in high school he was active as a soccer and basketball player. He did his practice teaching at Beall High School and Mt. Savage School.

In the other appointment, Mrs. Lee Johnson, of Baltimore Pike, has been appointed distributive education teacher at Allegany High School.

She will replace Donald E. Borman, who resigned to take a position with the Social Security Administration at Hagerstown.

In 1930 she graduated from Fairview (Va.) High School and received her bachelor of science in education degree four years later at Radford (Va.) College.

She has had six years teaching experience in schools of Virginia.

San Francisco is the insurance center of the west, with 674 carriers, agents and brokers employing about 21,800 persons and paying an annual payroll of about $95 million, according to the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

All But One Teaching Post Filled

One teaching position remains vacant in Allegany County public high schools as the first day of school for the fall term began today.

Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of public schools, pointed out the vacancy exists at the new Bruce High School, which lacks an art teacher. Some time ago the position had been accepted by Miss Elizabeth Campbell, who resigned Tuesday.

Rizer pointed out that 35 teaching positions had been filled prior to the opening of the school term.

The following teachers have accepted positions in high schools throughout the county: Allegany, Mrs. Jean L. Green, home economics; Robert Nelson, English; John R. Snyder, guidance.

Mrs. Kitty Atkinson, Latin; Inez Riggs, commercial; Mrs. Marian Hill, science and mathematics; Mrs. Margery Chambers, vocal music and Mrs. Lee Johnson, distributive education.

Fort Hill, Miss Joanne Herbert, social studies; John E. Frank, mathematics; Alfred Benna, mathematics and psychology; Edgar Reynolds, science; Charles E. Smith, science; Mrs. Constance Kurtz, art and Mrs. Wilma Haines, home economics.

Beall High, Drucilla Schriener, English; Gerard Calhoun, science and football coach; Mrs. Lucille Cinquegrani, art; Mrs. Mary Bolino, French and English; Mrs. Mary Kay Wilson, music.

Valley High, Jo Ann Katsakis, home economics; Charles L. Gillis, art; Bruce High, Raymond Chaney, social studies and core;

Trustees Use Police Getup

BENSON, Md. (AP) — State police at Benson barracks knew something was amiss when the complaints began coming in.

Two motorists said they had been stopped by a state police car for no apparent reason, and questioned by a small, impolite trooper without a hat or pistol.

A quick check of police car No. 324 showed that the trooper assigned was off duty and the car was parked at the barracks — or should have been. Missing with the car were two trustees.

Picked up and jailed after their three-hour spree were Marion Ford, 30, of Texas, Md., and Albert Church, 34, of suburban Catonsville.

The Australian government estimates that the continent could support 25 million people, nearly three times the present population.

Western Maryland Needs Rain For Parched Crops

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The vegetables on the Delmar peninsula and tobacco in Southern Maryland-Delaware crop and weather report says most crops east of the mountains have responded rather well to the rains of late August.

But the report for the week ended Aug. 30 said Allegany and Garrett counties, and the western part of Washington County, were still dry with rain needed badly for fruit and field crops of the area.

"Most spectacular response to the August rains," the report said, "was shown by soybeans and late vegetables on the Delmar peninsula and tobacco in Southern Maryland. Pastures show considerable improvement; and prospects for alfalfa and lespedeza hay have improved. Rain came too late to help the corn crop in most localities."

The Weather Bureau said the week's rainfall on the Eastern Shore ranged from .19 inch at Henderson up to 1.66 inches at Centerville. Other measurements included 1.59 inches at Chestertown, 1.14 at Rock Hall and 1.30 at Royal Oak.

The report said soybeans are showing a spectacular response to the August rains, while large quantities of drought-stricken corn are being cut for silage. Alfalfa in some northern sections will furnish a fourth cutting.

Also showing excellent response were snap beans and lima beans. Harvest of tomatoes for processing was at a peak last week and watermelon harvest was declining rapidly. Sweet potatoes have been moving to processors for about two weeks.

The peach harvest was reaching a peak in the important Washington County areas. Elbertas, J. H. Hale and Shippers were the chief varieties moving.

In both Washington and Allegany, sizing of apples has been held back by the dry weather. In Delaware, picking of Red Delicious already has started.

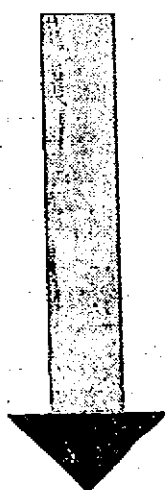

Understatement: the altitude of Belize, seaport capitol of British Honduras in South America, is—one foot.

150,000 Persons Urging Restoration Of Old Ship

BALTIMORE (AP)—Organizations representing a membership of about 150,000 have pledged support to a forthcoming fund appeal to restore the Constellation, officials of the drive said today.

Robert E. Michael of Baltimore, general chairman of the drive, said the organizations would participate in a house-to-house solicitation beginning Sept. 7 in Maryland. The drive will continue through Sept. 16 in Baltimore.

The money is to be used to restore the historic frigate to its original condition and move it to a permanent berth at Fort McHenry.

Meanwhile, Station WBAL-TV in Baltimore announced that Fleet Adm. William D. Leahy would take part in a special Constellation program to be presented by the station Sept. 7. Admiral Leahy served his first Atlantic cruise aboard the Constellation.

TV Education Makes Hit In Washington County

By JOHN LUNDQUIST
HAGERSTOWN — It can rival Wyatt Earp for the kids' attention, but television is going over in a big way in the Washington County school system.

And educators throughout the county are keeping a watchful eye on the experiment. They are anxious to learn whether they can put the same thing in operation in their own school systems.

When school doors opened today, another 6,200 pupils were added to the county's closed circuit television network. This will mark the two-thirds point of the change-over, which will be completed in September 1958.

Then, all 48 public schools with some 18,000 students will be linked in one circuit capable of carrying six programs at one time.

The summer vacation has given authorities a chance to expand their facilities. Instead of the three studios which inaugurated the program last fall, there will be six. One is equipped to show films.

There isn't any intention to make TV an amusing diversion. The Board of Education is using this modern technique in a bold experiment to find out how it can be put to effective use throughout one entire school system—elementary, junior and high school.

And it should be pointed out the youngsters aren't being saturated with "canned" education. They average only about one session a day via TV, and half of this usually is devoted to a classroom discussion with the set turned off.

Indications are the program is living up to the challenge. You get enthusiastic and favorable reaction from many sources. Unfavorable comments are few and far between.

Television in the school rooms is much like the kind in your own living room. The difference is that this is strictly for educational purposes, and the lessons are transmitted over a cable instead of through the air, like commercial TV.

Hagerstown, a bustling county seat in this Western Maryland area where the Fairchild Engine and Aircraft Corp. employs some 10,000 persons, was a natural choice for this experiment.

Washington County is a stabilized area with about equal numbers of city and rural population. Even more in its favor, school officials showed an intense interest in how television circuits might be incorporated in the new South Hagerstown High School. Their inquiries in turn interested professionals elsewhere in the educational and television fields.

A year ago last June the Ford Foundation's Fund for the Advancement of Education announced it would give financial backing to the countywide plan here. The Radio-Electronics-Television Manufacturers Assn. offered TV sets and technical advice. About 65,000 feet of coaxial cable were laid for the first year's operation.

The program cost perhaps $100,000 in the first year of operation, and the five-year plan is expected to approach one million dollars.

In its initial stages, school officials here want to find out what are the most effective ways to use closed-circuit TV.

How can it help Jimmy and Jane get more out of their school lessons?

Will it hurt their grades or help them?

How can it assist Miss Jones in getting the lesson across better to her classroom pupils?

The nerve center of the operation is tucked away inconspicuously behind the city swimming pool. A gray, one-story, corrugated steel structure, it houses three studios, a control room, a rowed teachers' study room, boys and girls, learning by television benefits teachers. They pick up ideas by having a specialist before the cameras. They don't have to spend time for lesson research that the TV instructor does. As a result, they're able to devote more time to a student's individual problems.

Already hundreds of educators have visited here from many parts of the country, and the guest list includes people from 30 countries, according to Brish.

He is lecturing on the social and economic upheaval of the 1950s. With the National Recovery Act emblem and its spread winged eagle displayed prominently over his shoulder, Tuckerman tells of "the 100 days" and of how the Supreme Court declared the NRA unconstitutional.

"I'm going to show you now what happened to this noble bird." With that, Tuckerman produces a scraggly, lifeless specimen hung by its feet. "It looks like a hamstrung turkey buzzard," he comments, and the students get a kick out of it.

Tuckerman gives way to a picture of grinning Franklin D. Roosevelt, and the former President's transcribed voice which intones those famous words, "Let me say, the only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

How do boys and girls like learning by television?

Joe Marsh, a 10th grade geometry whiz who admitted he did "only 85 per cent" of his homework but got 100 in all of his tests, said: "I think this is the best planned teaching I have ever had."

Bob Jeffords, who is taking Tuckerman's U. S. history course, said he doesn't find any history very interesting. But the charts, graphs and other visual guides help make the subject more palatable. His grades are about the same now as before.

Here is how a couple of teachers feel about it:

Mrs. Mary Heltzel, fifth grade math instructor: "I think it has a lot of potentialities. I've had the same class from the third grade, and they've gotten more out of the combined TV session and classroom discussion than out of a classroom session only."

Miss Jean Moser, veteran of 22 years of drumming history into the boys' and girls' heads, declared: "I'm thoroughly enjoying this experience with TV teaching. She added there is a tremendous team concept" among her teenage students. On checking their scholastic performance in the ninth and 10th grades she found the class doing as well or better in history with the aid of television.

John M. Baer, president of the county Board of Education, offered this reaction: "We've gotten to the point where we feel television can have quite a place in education. I think it is only fair to say some liked it and some didn't. Some expected it to be entertaining. But the school officials have actually had remarkably little criticism. The (Ford) Foundation in the last few months has become very, very enthused about what's taking place here. They claim it's a way beyond their expectations."

Mrs. William Slock, president of the County Council of Parents and Teachers, said: "I have had more favorable reports than unfavorable, especially as far as the elementary grades are concerned. Parents feel it is excellent."

County Schools Superintendent William Brish and T. Wilson Cahill, coordinator for the project, believe that in addition to producing a better curriculum for the

City Issues Permit For $12,000 Home

A permit to construct a dwelling has been issued to Leo Isaacs by the city building engineer.

The home will be erected off Plymouth Drive in the Blake Terrace area and will cost an estimated $12,000.

It will have a concrete block foundation, brick walls and an asphalt shingle roof. The Goss Contracting Company, 422 Warwick Avenue, will furnish the plans and build the home.

An old law in Vermont once required that conductors of rail-way trains read passages from the Bible to passengers traveling on Sundays.

Naval Unit To Be Checked For National Rating

Lt. Cmdr. Leonard L. Royer of the leading contender for first place nationally among 308 large surface divisions. Newport News, Va., is a close second in the tentative standings.

Lt. Cmdr. McCrea said that if Cumberland's Surface Division is declared the national winner, Cumberland will be the smallest population center to earn the Forrestal Trophy since the award was established in July 1947.

Previous winners and fiscal year for which the trophy was awarded are: Fall River, Mass., 1948; Camden, N. J., 1949 and 1950; Santa Monica, Calif., 1951; New Orleans, La., 1952; Lorain, O., 1953; Williamsport, Pa., 1954; Gary, Ind., 1956.

People From Illinois To Maryland Figure In Complicated Air Service Hearing Before Aeronautics Unit

WASHINGTON — Spokesmen for communities ranging from Illinois to Maryland requested increased air service yesterday as the Civil Aeronautics Board began Washington hearings on one of the most complicated cases it has ever faced.

The case, called the "Great Lakes Local Service Investigation," involves requests by six local service air lines for new routes in 11 states and the District of Columbia.

At the hearing, representatives of the states of Pennsylvania and Maryland the cities of Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Wheeling, W. Va., Hagerstown, Md., Danville, Ill., and Columbus, Ind., put in plugs for one or more of the lines.

The competing lines are Allegheny, Piedmont, North Central, Mohawk and Ozark. The requested new routes would be in Maryland, West Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Minnesota, and the District of Columbia.

Henry Beecken, a Washington aviation consultant representing both the city of Wheeling and the Greater Baltimore Committee, testified that trunk air lines have not provided adequate service to those cities. He urged that the CAB approve applications by the feeder lines in Wheeling and other cities may be suspended if the feeder lines are certificated.

Under cross-examination by a Piedmont lawyer, Beecken said he would prefer the proposed Piedmont service to Wheeling over that now provided by Capital and Trans-World Airlines even if the trunk lines would have to be suspended.

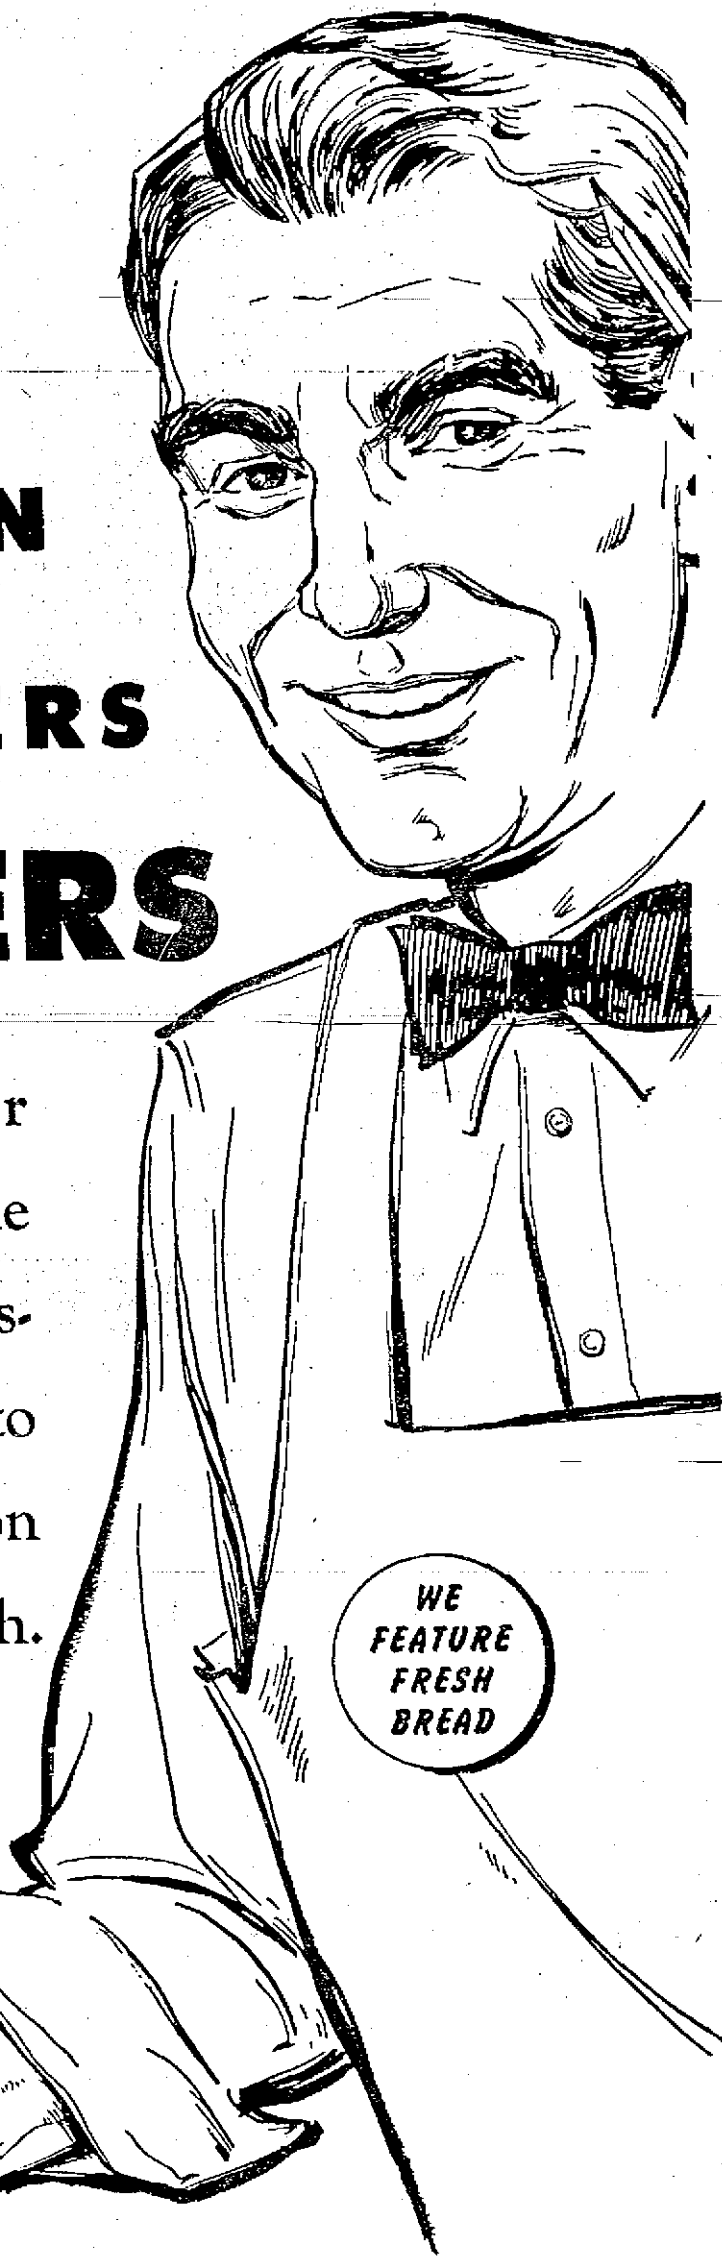

An Allegheny proposal to provide increased air service to Hagerstown, Md., was endorsed by A. Le Roy Nichols, representing the Hagerstown Chamber of Commerce. That proposal is not competitive.

Protest On Phone Rates Put On File

People's Counsel
Contents Proposal
Of Company Illegal

BALTIMORE (AP)—People's counsel today filed a motion with the Public Service Commission protesting a proposal by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. to raise rates by $6,855,000 on Sept. 16.

Willfred T. McQuaid contended the proposed increase for Maryland telephone users is illegal in view of a PSC order entered Sept. 1.

Wants Full Check

As an alternate to outright rejection of the new rates, he asked the commission to suspend the proposed increase for 120 days and start a full investigation of the company's plan. McQuaid said the cumulative effect of increases granted the C&P over the past 10 years amounted to about 108 million dollars.

If the increase is granted despite his protest, McQuaid said the new rates should be much lower than those proposed by the company, which based its rate schedule on a return of 6 1/2 percent. Such a return, McQuaid said, is in excess of the maximum previously allowed by the commission.

He said the Sept. 1 order of the PSC directed that rates fixed by the company should not exceed 6 percent.

Sixth Increase

The motion noted that this is the sixth rate increase asked by the company since 1946. If granted, McQuaid said, it would result in a total rate increase in a 10-year period of additional gross revenues of some 20 million dollars per year.

McQuaid told the commission it is against the public interest to permit such increased rates to become effective without a public hearing in which the alleged justification for such increases can be openly investigated, weighed and examined.

Stop Wide Range

The C&P said if McQuaid's motion is approved it would prevent its "wider range calling plan" from going into effect and also deprive the company of revenue needed to meet increased expenses.

W. G. Morrell, C&P vice president, said the company has offered to file a bond which "fully protects the public while the commission conducts its investigation."

Morrell's statement said "we have asked for the minimum amount required and telephone prices have gone up less than almost anything else. Telephone rates since the war have gone up on the average about one-third as much as the cost of living."

Work Begins In City Hall

Workmen from the Street Department today were removing partitions from a section of the City Hall basement to make more room for city clerk and city registration facilities.

William H. Buchholz, commissioner of streets and public property, said the section formerly used for the mental hygiene clinics of the Allegany County Health Department will be moved up the corridor.

The clinic room will be added to the present registration room, and a counter placed the length of it, he added.

The health department will lose little or no space when it finally is moved to its new quarters, he emphasized.

Temperature Drops Sharply

Scattered showers and winds yesterday afternoon in the area were the forerunner of a drop in the temperature.

While the mercury fell, there was not much of a drop in the barometer, and the Weather Bureau calls for no relief from the dry spell.

In downtown Cumberland, the temperature dropped from 89 degrees at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, to 55 degrees at 7 a. m. today.

The forecast for Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties calls for it to be between 38 and 47 degrees.

Tomorrow is to be fair, cool, with a high between 63 and 77 degrees. Saturday is to be partly cloudy and a little warmer.

Forty Hours Starts Sunday

Forty Hour devotions will open at St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Ridgeley this Sunday.

Masses on Sunday will be celebrated at 8 and 10 a. m. and 5 p. m., with benediction following the evening mass.

Forty Hours will officially open at the 10 a. m. mass Sunday, and a procession will follow. Masses on Monday and Tuesday will be held at 8 a. m. with services also scheduled for Monday at 7:30 p. m.

The devotions will close with the 8 a. m. mass on Tuesday, followed by a procession.

Judge Denies Writ Plea By Prisoner

A plea for a writ of habeas corpus by a prisoner in the Maryland House of Correction has been denied by Chief Judge George Henderson.

The prisoner, Frederick M. Minnick, was sentenced to nine years on February 10, 1954, on a charge of robbery when taken before Judge Emory H. Niles in Baltimore City.

In his petition to Judge Henderson, the man claimed that he was walking with another man to a office where he was formerly employed. When they arrived they saw two men employed by the company with a bag of money for night deposit. Minnick claimed the man with him grabbed the money and ran and he did likewise out of fear. He said he suddenly stopped when he realized he had done nothing wrong.

He was arrested and when taken into court he claims his attorney entered a guilty plea with out consulting him. It was brought out whether the attorney was court-appointed or employed by Minnick.

Judge Henderson said it has been held by every Circuit Court in the state that the Court of Appeals should be used by petitioners when they claim that there had been a mistake in the plea. Using the habeas corpus procedure is not the manner in which such cases should be handled, the jurist opined. The jurist also held that no complaint had been made to the court in which Minnick was tried.

River Flow Under Normal

The report of the local Geological Survey office of the U. S. Department of the Interior shows the flow of the Potomac River at the Wiley Ford gauge during August was 32.9 per cent of the 28-year average.

The observed mean daily flow of the river here during the month was 146 cubic feet per second or 94.4 million gallons daily. The flow varied from 20.9 million gallons August 31 to 132 million gallons on August 5.

A seasonal decrease in the average increase of 43 million gallons in the flow of the river here.

E. H. Mohler, engineer in charge of the Geological Survey office, said the Savage River Dam provided anywhere from 75 to 80 per cent of the river's flow at Lake during the month.

Total precipitation in Cumberland, as reported by the Weather Bureau, was .77 inch, 2.71 inches below the August average.

The average daily temperature was 71.7 degrees, which was .8 degrees below normal.

Board Named On New Auto Insurance

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Machinery is being set up for a new Maryland law to protect drivers from "the other fellow"—the irresponsible motorist.

An act of the 1957 General Assembly established an unsatisfied claim and judgment fund to reimburse motorists for damages in accidents with hit-and-run drivers, uninsured drivers and drivers of stolen or out-of-state cars.

The fund will not begin paying Maryland motorists until June 1, 1959.

Gov. McKeldin appointed a six-man board yesterday to set up the administrative machinery. Named to the board were Insurance Commissioner Charles S. Jackson, Motor Vehicles Commissioner James B. Monroe and four insurance firm executives.

The fund will be built up by charging motorists and insurance companies. Drivers with liability insurance will pay $1, uninsured motorists will pay $8 and the insurance firms will kick in with one-half of 1 per cent of their total premiums.

Insured motorists will pay no more than the $1. But drivers without insurance and the insurance companies will have to replenish the fund when the motor vehicles commissioner feels it's necessary.

The board, to have offices in Baltimore, will hold an organizational meeting within the next few days.

Traffic Club Sets Meeting

The September meeting of the Tri-State Traffic Club will be held at the Ali Ghun Shrine Country Club Wednesday, September 11, at 6:30 p. m.

This will be the first business meeting under the new president, S. A. Wenner, of the traffic department of Amcelle Plant of Celanese Corporation.

Action on a number of new members will be taken and films will be shown.

44-Year-Old Man Learns To Read During Summer

A 44-year-old Cumberland man, although he was eligible to be a member of a group that has for promotion, it was stated, and began to read and write in a summer class conducted at the home of an Allegany County school teacher.

The man, an employee of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, has learned to write, although one student is only four what has been described as a "very legible" hand and his reading ability is equivalent to that of a first grader.

Although the summer course ended Friday, the instructor, Harold Bean of Baltimore Pike, said his middle-aged pupil has arranged for reading instruction to be continued at once-a-week classes, with the study confined to that subject since Bean said he felt practice was all that his student needed.

The man, it was reported, could only write his name since he had but little schooling while residing in West Virginia as a youth. The inability to read or write prevented him from advancing in work at the Kelly (Continued on Page 26)

Father Faces Charge From Home Affray

Allen G. Weir, 18,
Shot Following
Family Argument

A 54-year-old Garrett County man was taken to the county jail in Oakland this morning on a charge resulting from the shooting of his son following a family argument.

The man, William James Weir, allegedly shot his 18-year-old son, Allen G. Weir, at their farm home, located about half a mile across the Garrett County line above Lonaconing.

The son was admitted to Miners Hospital in Frostburg where attaches today said he was in "satisfactory" condition. Police said the youth was shot in the left chest just under the heart, with the bullet coming out on the left side of the back.

The shooting is said to have taken place about 5:45 p. m. in the living room of the farmhouse, after which young Weir got in the family car and drove to the Lonaconing residence of Cpl. Harry S. Bosley.

Called Barracks

In the meantime, the father is said to have called the LaVale State Police barracks and confessed to the shooting, asking if he should turn himself in. The elder Weir was informed to remain at his home, where Cpl. Bosley picked him up later and then placed him in Allegany County jail here on an open charge.

Authorities indicated the man would probably be charged with assault with intent to kill, depending on the outcome of his son's injuries. The youth was shot with a .32 calibre pistol.

Drove To Lonaconing

After the shooting young Weir drove a distance of about three miles to the home of Cpl. Bosley, who was eating supper.

Cpl. Bosley said he heard a horn blowing continuously outside the house, and when he went to investigate, found young Weir slumped over the steering wheel of the car.

The police officer summoned an ambulance. As the victim was being taken from the car to the ambulance he lapsed into unconsciousness.

The argument was reported to have started earlier in the afternoon over the use of the family car. Allen, who graduated from high school this past June, is employed as a rural mail carrier out of Lonaconing.

Opening Day Of Schools Said "Quiet"

Several school officials noted that Allegany County, in marked contrast to some other parts of the nation, had the quietest "school opening" in years.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of county public schools, said there were, as usual, a few complaints on transportation.

People keep moving farther from the main roads, and some problems come up when the time arrives for children to be hauled to school, he pointed out.

But this is minor, and for the most part today's first half-day of school was the quietest in his six years as school superintendent, Webster pointed out.

High school principals said the confusion resulting from a new seventh grade does not exist as it did in prior years.

This is due to the orientation day given in the spring at each school for its future seventh graders. At this time they are given maps of the school, and briefed on their classes.

Second Army Talk Planned

A colorful presentation of the story of the Second Army, which covers this area, is being planned by local Army Reserve officials.

The briefing thoroughly illustrates the mission and accomplishments of the Second Army.

The program is presented by Col. A. H. Rosenfeld, program coordinating officer for the Second Army.

Those interested civilians and reservists wishing to attend this briefing may contact the Army Reserve Armory, Walnut Place, FA 2-4004, according to members of the Regular Army staff here. The time will be announced later.

Two Area Men Enlist In Army

Two area men have enlisted in the Army at the local recruiting station for three years each, according to Master Sgt. W. C. Hartley, recruiter.

They are Robert E. Dawson, son of Mrs. Sarah T. Dawson, D. Idleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott I. Idleman, Mt. Storm.

Dawson signed up for the Airborne Infantry while Idleman enlisted for the engineer equipment corps.

Both men were sent to Fort Jackson, S. C., for basic training, on road matters.

Two Arrested On Romney Area Counts

Carnival Workers
Stole Auto, Broke
Into Establishments

Two young carnival workers stole a car in Romney late Tuesday night and went for a ride to Winchester, Va., where police chased them when it was noticed they were driving without license plates.

They are being held in Hampshire County jail at Romney on charges of car theft and two separate counts of breaking and entering. Held are Dewey Lee McCroskey, 21, of Narrows, Va., and Douglas Lee Mayhew, 16, Martinsburg, W. Va.

Trooper C. E. Davis of the West Virginia State Police detachment at Romney said the two are on probation on robbery charges, McCroskey from a District of Columbia count, and Mayhew from one in his hometown.

Chased By Police

Both employees of the Winchester Amusement Company, which is presenting a carnival in Romney, McCroskey and Mayhew reportedly took a car from a used car lot there at about midnight Tuesday. After being spotted driving the tagless vehicle, Winchester Police chased the car back into West Virginia.

The two were apprehended after they wrecked the car on U. S. Route 50 on Bear Garden Mountain, just inside the Hampshire County line. The Romney State Police detachment was notified after Mayhew and McCroskey admitted having stolen the vehicle off the lot of the Park used car sales lot.

Trooper Dorsey questioned the two yesterday in the course of which Mayhew said he and his companion had broken into a Romney pool room and made off with a quantity of money that had been hidden in a sack under a counter, and the proceeds from a cigarette machine and pinball device.

While the two were being questioned, Sheriff M. R. Holt of Hampshire County was called to investigate a breaking and entering of a service station located about two miles east of Romney on Route 50. Sheriff Holt contacted Trooper Dorsey and informed him of the breaking and entering, adding that hair and blood were on a broken window through which entry had been made.

Trooper Dorsey noticed that Mayhew had lacerations of the head, and the youth admitted to the charge. When apprehended, McCroskey and Mayhew had a total of $47 on their persons, Winchester police said.

Some Meats Not To Be Frozen

If your home freezer or freezer compartment is not capable of maintaining a temperature of zero or lower, do not attempt to freeze meat in it. It's the quick freezing at low temperature which holds the fine flavor of meat while it is in the freezer compartment.

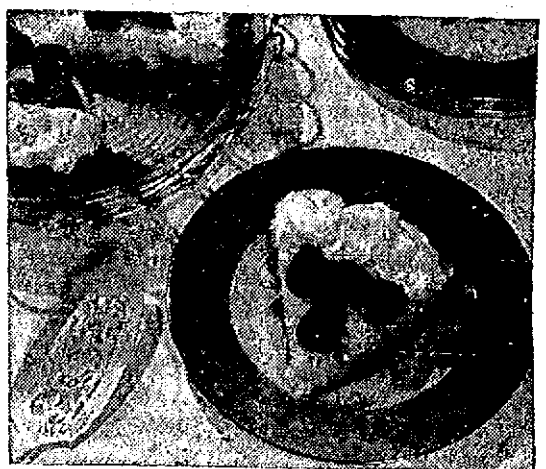

To keep maximum flavor in the meats you choose for freezing, process them as soon as possible after purchase. The fresher the meat, the better will be its keeping quality while frozen. Freezing doesn't improve meat—it can only keep the meat as good as it was before freezing.

Cured and smoked meats and fresh pork sausage deteriorate rapidly in flavor when frozen. Thus, it is recommended that some of these products not be frozen and that others be stored frozen for limited periods only. Not recommended for freezing are: Sliced bacon, bologna, frankfurters or wieners, and fresh pork sausage. Recommended for short term freezing (only) are smoked hams, pickles, slab bacon, and other cured and smoked meats.

Extra Flavor

Add mixed pickling spice to a boneless pork shoulder butt when you are simmering it in water.

Good Raisin Bread

Ingredients: 1/2 cup milk, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 teaspoons salt, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/2 cup warm (near 105 degrees) water, 1 envelope dry granular yeast, 1 egg, 1/2 cup seedless raisins (crushed in hot water and drained), 3 cups (about) sifted flour, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg.

Method: Scald milk in a small saucepan; remove from heat. Stir in 1 tablespoon sugar, salt and butter until melted. Add water and yeast. Mix well. Sprinkle in yeast, stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture. Beat in egg thoroughly and raisins with a spoon. Stir in 3 cups flour until blended. Dough will be soft, but if it seems too soft to roll, mix in a couple of tablespoons more flour. Turn dough out on well-floured pastry cloth; sprinkle top of dough with flour and roll into an 8 by 16-inch rectangle. Mix 1/4 cup sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg together; sprinkle over dough. Roll up as you would a jelly roll, starting with 8-inch side; seal edges and place in buttered loaf pan (9 1/2 by 5 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches). Cover with towel and let rise in warm place (80 to 85 degrees) free from draft, until double in bulk—about 1 hour. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 45 minutes to 1 hour; loaf should be well browned and have a hollow sound when bottom is tapped. Turn out of pan and allow to stand on rack to cool before cutting.

If fresh strawberries are used, halve each berry. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons of sugar. Cover and store in the refrigerator.

While the rice cooks, make the pie crust. Stir 2 tablespoons sugar into the graham cracker crumbs. Slowly stir in the melted butter or margarine. Press firmly over the bottom and sides of a well-greased 9" pie plate. Do not spread on the rim. Chill. Whip 1/2 cup of the cream until stiff. Fold into the rice. Spread over the graham cracker crust. Build up the filling around the edge so the strawberry juice will not run into the crust.

If freshberries are used, drain. Measure the juice. If necessary, mash several berries to make 2 tablespoons of juice. Spoon juice over the rice. Do not allow the juice to run into the crust. Arrange the berries over the top. Cover well and store in the refrigerator until time to serve. If frozen berries are used, plan to serve the dessert soon after the berries thaw. Drain the berries. Spoon 2 tablespoons of the juice over the filling. Arrange the drained berries over the rice. Do not hold too long. To serve, whip the 1/2 cup whipping cream until stiff. Stir in the 1/2 teaspoon vanilla and 1 teaspoon sugar. Arrange around the edge of the rice filling. This recipe makes 8 to 9 servings.

If you've always meant to make a strawberry pie, now's the time! If fresh strawberries are not available, use frozen ones.

Ingredients:
1 1/2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup uncooked white rice
2 cups milk
1/2 cup beet or cane sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
1 pint fresh strawberries or
1 package frozen strawberries
4 tablespoons beet or cane sugar
1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
1 cup whipping cream, chilled
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon beet or cane sugar

METHOD: Put the water, salt and rice in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil over a high heat. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid and leave over this low heat 14 minutes. Stir in the milk. Cover and cook over the low heat 40 to 55 minutes or until the milk is absorbed. Do not allow to boil. Stir in the 1/2 cup sugar. Cool, and stir in the vanilla. Cover and store in the refrigerator.

Various Beef Cuts Put On List Of 'Good Buys'

By The Associated Press
Various cuts of beef will be the most popular offering at supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores this week.

This welcome bit of news for beef lovers is not, however, due to any sudden reduction in beef prices. They're continuing at the recent high levels for the most part, and are expected to remain there for awhile. Presumably supermarket chiefs decided they might as well offer a beef special now instead of waiting for prices to come down.

Fryers Also On List

The Department of Agriculture notes that while the supply of fed beef, which yields top grades, was somewhat greater this summer, the volume of grass-cattle (source of lean beef) coming to market in coming months will be well below last summer and fall. Last year's production was spurred by droughts in key beef raising areas. Many other meats will be featured at supermarket sales compared to be 54 per cent larger than a year ago.

Lamb, ham, turkeys, pork ribs and shoulder, and veal also will be offered. Stores in areas where seafoods sell well will have flounder fillets, sliced halibut, swordfish steaks, lobster and frozen had-dock.

Vegetable and Fruit Bins in Most of the Nation Still are Chock Full of Fresh Produce from Nearby Fields and Orchards.

Outstanding vegetable buys include peppers, yellow sweet corn, eggplant, green and yellow squash, bunched beets, new green cabbage, tomatoes and potatoes.

California iceberg lettuce is reasonably priced in most places, along with pascal and golden heart celery, topped carrots, cauliflower, radishes and green onions. Broccoli is moderately priced. Yellow onions shipped from growing areas in Texas, Idaho and California also are moderate in cost.

Peaches Still Plentiful

Small fruits such as grapes, nectarines, pears, figs and plums are coming in from California's fruit-growing areas in good supply, with prices ranging from good to expensive. Peaches are plentiful although market men warn that some show a wide range in quality and condition. The pear crop is expected to run about 4 per cent ahead of last year's and reach a 10-year high. In addition, stocks of canned pears July 1 were estimated to be 54 per cent larger than a year ago.

Greeks Add Lemon To Lamb Gravy

The Greeks are famed for adding tangy lemon juice to give a unique flavor to roast lamb gravy. Stir flour into water and add to drippings, cook until thickened, then add the juice of one lemon. Use a cut lemon half to rub over the surface of Lamb roasts before cooking or lemon juice in a basting sauce.

lured at supermarket sales compared to be 54 per cent larger than a year ago.

The Department of Agriculture forecasts 116 million bushels of apples, up 15 per cent from last year and the biggest crop since 1937. Early varieties of the usual fall apples are coming into market here, too, holdover stocks of canned and frozen supplies are abundant—up 60 per cent from a year ago. Honeydew melons are reported slightly lower in price than last week, but still fairly expensive. Cantaloupes and watermelons are still on the bargain list in most places.

Spuds Star At Hearty Spread

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Fall appetites take to stuffed potatoes — well flavored, hearty and full of surprises.

Add crab meat, mushrooms and cheddar cheese to them as we do in this recipe and — along with a crisp green salad — they will make a sumptuous main course for a ladies' luncheon.

What else goes on the menu? If you want to be elegant, you can start your luncheon with crescents of melon served with paper-thin slices of ham. The ham should be Italian prosciutto, Smithfield or Westphalian; but in a pinch just plain baked ham will do.

These two courses will be so filling that for dessert we suggest your very best bar cookies with tea or coffee.

Baked Potatoes With Crab Stuffing

Ingredients: 4 medium-large baked potatoes, ½ cup butter or margarine, ¼ cup heavy cream, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon finely-grated onion (pulp and juice), 1 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese, 1 can (6½ ounces) crab meat (drained and picked over and flaked), 1 can (3 ounces) chopped broiled mushrooms (drained).

Method: As soon as potatoes are cooked through and come out of the oven, cut in half lengthwise and scoop out all the pulp; be careful not to break skins.

BAKED POTATOES—With a stuffing that's full of surprises.

Put potatoes through a ricer or mash smooth. Meanwhile heat (350 degrees) oven until cheese butter and cream over very low heat until butter melts; beat into potatoes. Stir in grated onion, you want the tops browner you may run potatoes under the broiler for a few seconds but file into potato shells and watch carefully. Makes 6 servings.

Hot Dogs Can Be Basis Of Tasty Sunday Supper

During July, National Hot Dog Month, the versatile red hot dog comes a cook's delight. For the not only during July, but all year round.

As sophisticated as pate de foie gras—depending on how you want to prepare it. It can be boiled, baked, broiled, fried, steamed, grilled or barbecued. But no matter how you cook it, the frank still will remain top dog on the rollcall of family favorites.

Here are a few hot dog recipes that show off the frank's versatility as a food-for-any-occasion.

SUNDAY SUPPER FRANKS

Deviled Cheese Sauce
3 tablespoons butter; 3 tablespoons flour; 1½ cups milk; 1½ cups shredded sharp cheese; 1 tablespoon prepared mustard; 1 tablespoon A-1 sauce; 1 teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon pepper.

One loaf French bread, 12 skinless frankfurters, 5 thick tomato slices, 6 onion slices.

For the sauce, melt butter in sauce pan over low heat and blend in flour. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly, and cook until sauce is smooth and thickened. Add cheese and seasonings and continue cooking and stirring until cheese is melted. Cut loaf of bread into thirds and slice each piece in half; spread each with butter, place on a baking sheet and toast under broiler. On each slice lay the following in order: 2 slit frankfurters, side by side; 1 tomato slice, and 1 onion slice. Place under broiler, about 4 inches from flame and broil until onion is lightly browned. Remove from broiler, place on plates and cover with Deviled Cheese Sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Chess Pie Served On Gulf Coast

To some folks chess is a game of pure skill. But the famous Chess Pie, as prepared at one of the Gulf Coast's famous luxury resort hotels, is easy as pie for you to make. Your family will love its rich, buttery flavor.

This recipe for Chess Pie serves 6 people: Cream ½ cup butter. Blend together 2 cups sugar and 2 tablespoons cornstarch. Add to the butter mixture and cream again.

Add 4 eggs, one at a time, beating mixture well after each one is added. Put mixture in a pie crust that has been baked 4 or 5 minutes in a 405 F. oven. Bake the pie in a 350 F. oven until it sets, 35 minutes or more. Test by inserting a silver knife in it. When it comes out clean, the pie is done.

Eggs Are Good Buy

Add more eggs than ever to your menu—production is breaking all records and prices are the lowest in years. They take little time to prepare, enrich your cooking and are highly nutritious.

Septic Tank Can Become Health Peril

Septic tanks will serve as satisfactory as city sewers, with proper care and attention, according to the National Association of Home Builders. Otherwise they can become a burdensome expense and, when functioning improperly, they can become a neighborhood health menace.

All septic tank installations are required to meet the standards of the local health official.

Learn the location of the septic tank and its drainage field. For best results, inspect them annually. The frequency with which a septic tank should be cleaned depends on its size, daily sewage intake, and the number of people it serves.

Unless the tank is large enough to accommodate additional wastes, the use of household garbage grinder will require more frequent cleaning.

When the total depth of scum and solids exceeds one-third the liquid depth of the tank, the solids should be removed. With ordinary use and care, the tank will probably need cleaning every two years.

Persons with some knowledge of the operation can be found to perform this service in most communities or through the local health department.

Clean In Spring

Clean tanks in the spring of the year. Warm weather hastens bacterial action and, because waste material gives off obnoxious odors and may contain dangerous disease bacteria, it should be buried or disposed of in a manner approved by local health departments.

No chemicals are capable of

Keep Cool With Citrus

There's nothing quite as cooling and refreshing as ice-cold lemon or limeade, either from the fresh fruit or in concentrated form. Both will be plentiful since crops are larger than last year.

reducing solids in a septic tank to the point where cleaning is unnecessary and patented cleaning agents are not generally recommended to be added to the sewage.

Salad Note

A wonderful dressing for fruit salad is pineapple honey dressing: The sweet-sour flavor accents the fruits. Combine ½ cup of honey, ½ cup of lime juice, ¼ teaspoon of salt and ¼ cup of well-drained, crushed pineapple.

Tidbit Before Dinner

Nice with that before-dinner beverage: Small squares of thin cornbread with a filling of butter and deviled ham.

Hot Garnish For Meat Dish

A delicious hot garnish to serve with cold turkey or ham is made by threading 3 pineapple chunks on each toothpick and rolling them in brown sugar.

Broil on two sides to brown lightly.

Try adding a bay leaf to your chicken fricassee along with the usual onion and celery.

Parking Lot
Balance Set
At $13,902

WESTERNPORT — Since the establishment of Westernport's Parking Lot 1 four years ago, $11,097.05 and interest will have been paid on it by the last of this month, Mayor Okey E. Michael announced at the regular council meeting last evening. The original investment of $25,000 now has a balance of $13,902.55. The mayor also revealed that receipts from parking meters the past week amounted to $70.50. The first two policemen employed by the town, Mrs. Maurice Shaw and Mrs. Anderson Grove, are to direct traffic during the school drop, or should the present dry term have been sworn in by Mayor Michael. They began their duties Tuesday with the opening of St. Peter's elementary and high schools. Leo Herbert, police commissioner, stated they would work three hours daily, one in the morning, at noon time and after school. One is being stationed at the intersection of Main and Church Streets and the other at Washington and Main Streets. They will alternate each week. Alvin Pence, water commissioner, reported that unless rainfall improves the quantity of water by Saturday restrictions will be placed on the use of water. Water in the reservoir adjoining the filtration plant, which holds 750,000 gallons, is down four feet and there is only four feet of water in the storage tank adjacent to Bruce High School, representing 4,000 gallons. The latter tank has a capacity of 50,000 gallons. An application for work in the Street Department from Lawrence Cooper, Mill Run, was read by Mrs. Katherine Bailey, town clerk. John Duckworth has offered to repair a Walnut Street wall which is falling providing the town furnish the material necessary. The work was authorized. It was also revealed that Christ Memorial Baptist Church on Roosevelt Street asked that a power pole be relocated; also a sewer line. A power company will be asked to move the pole, but town will not change the sewer line at this time. The mayor reported the roof on the town building had been repaired. Ray L. Will, commissioner of lights and public property was authorized to purchase safety and traffic signs. A meeting of Mayor Michael and Commissioners will be held today at 8 p. m. for the purpose of discussing proposed rates for water meters. The first ones will be installed for commercial users. The entire project will take about three years for completion.

Program Scheduled

KEYSER — The annual homecoming and sing at Sulphur Church will be held Sunday, starting at 11 a. m. (DST). Rev. H. A. Young, pastor, and the congregation are making plans for the annual event.

Social Tomorrow

KEYSER — The Young People of Revised Brethren Church of Danville will conduct a social tomorrow evening at Van-Pelt Park on McMullen Highway, starting at 7:30.

Frostburg Notes
Water Shortage
At Council Meet

FROSTBURG — Commissioner William Eberly reported Tuesday evening that water in the Piney River Dam is now down five feet below the spillway. He stated that there is no immediate cause for alarm regarding the water situation. However, he feels the citizens of the community should be asked to conserve water now, rather than wait until the supply becomes dangerously low. Eberly was asked by Mayor Joseph James to keep an accurate check on the water level at the dam. Should it continue to drop, or should the present dry weather continue, the public will be informed at once and the use of lawn sprinklers, car washers and other unnecessary uses of water will be curtailed until the situation improves. It was noted that Ellsworth Filer, manager of the community swimming pool, has requested authority to keep the pool and picnic area open for several additional weeks due to the good weather. This authority was granted. Assistant Chief of Police Ronald Kreider reported that old buildings which were ordered torn down several months ago are still standing. The city clerk was authorized to write the owners of these old buildings, notifying them that if the structures are not razed within 30 days immediate action will be taken by authorities. Kreider was also ordered to pick up any pinball machines found to be operating without proper license tags, and to arrest any bicycle riders seen on the streets without tags. It was pointed out that two months have expired since the deadline for both bicycle tags and pinball licenses. Persons who have not yet secured such licenses are not entitled to any further extension of time, James said. Kreider was ordered to impound any machines found to be in violation of the ordinance. Franklin Martens, commissioner of police, reported that his department is in need of a humane officer. He asked that anyone interested in the position, either as a full-time or part-time job, get in touch with the city clerk or himself. Sealed bids for the purchase of a new police cruiser were opened and, after considerable discussion, it was decided to file these bids and ask for new bids on a regular model stock car to be used as a cruiser. It was felt that considerable money could be saved in this manner, as the models used for police work costs much more than regular model cars. Martens reported that the Police Department is in immediate need of four winter-weight top coats. The city clerk was authorized to ask all local tailors to submit bids for furnishing such equipment. Eberly stated that he has been approached by several citizens and corporations, inquiring if it will be permissible to secure city water for their use. Not wishing to make commitments in such cases as this without the action of the council, he declined to do so. (Continued on Page 19)

Two Appointments Listed
At State Teachers College

FROSTBURG — R. Bowen Hardesty, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, has announced the appointment of two new members to the staff of the college. Dr. Martin Rothstein will be part-time instructor and resident physician, while Maxwell J. Stangle will head the Maintenance Department. Dr. Rothstein will teach public health education, designed to prepare teachers for keen observation of students in the public schools. He will devote several hours a day in the campus infirmary and be assisted by Mrs. Martha Flickinger, resident registered nurse. Dr. Rothstein was born in Philadelphia and attended public schools there. He graduated from Temple University, did post graduate work and was at Pittsburgh Medical Center. Further post graduate work was done in rheumatology, arthritis and polio at Army and Navy General Hospital, Hot Springs, Ark. He has been engaged in general practice since 1948 with offices in Frostburg. A member of county and state medical societies, he is President of the medical staff of Miners Hospital, vice president of the western section of the Maryland Academy of General Practice and Courtesy staff of Sacred Heart Hospital. Dr. Rothstein is medical director of Civil Defense of Frostburg and a member of the medical board of the Allegheny-Garrett County Heart Association. He is also clinician of the Allegheny County Health Department. His part-time services with the college will begin Monday. Stangle was the first applicant on the open list of eligible candidates as presented by the State Employment Agency. He made the highest score of all who took an examination. Stangle has supervised the construction of 17 buildings for the State of Maryland, including barracks at LaVale, armory at Oakland, armory at Frostburg, Campion Hall, Lowndes Hall, Allen Hall and Simpson Hall at State Teachers College. Mr. and Mrs. Stangle reside on Mt. Pleasant Street, here. He succeeds Sam Davis who for 30 years has rendered service to the college. In a recent report by Dr. Henry Linn, consultant employed by the Maryland State Department of Education to survey the buildings of all Maryland state teachers colleges, he lauded Frostburg State Teachers College and declared the cleanliness and care of these buildings to be of high grade and far above the average in the nation. Much credit, Hardesty, says, goes to Davis who will continue his position of chief stationary engineer. The position of maintenance foreman, which Stangle assumes, was created at the past legislative session.

HONORED — Miss Joyce Carol Connor, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Connor Jr., Gary, W. Va., has been chosen as a princess to the 1957 edition of the Mountain State Forest Festival in Elkins the first weekend in October. She is a student at West Virginia University.

Tri-County Fair To Open Sept. 11 At Petersburg

PETERSBURG—Officials of the Tri-County Fair announced that plans have been completed for the grand opening of the 37th annual event here from Wednesday to Saturday, September 11-14.

This year's fair will be newer in many respects than in years past. New types of exhibits will be shown, as well as a daily program in front of the grandstand. In addition to the usual roster of events, this year finds the program varied each day in order to bring as large a variety as possible to fair goers.

On opening day, in addition to the regular schedule of judging and other events, will be seen the Carol Shaffner sheep dog act from the University of Pennsylvania. Featured also will be the Four Tones, Harrisonburg, Va., singing a varied repertoire of gospel and spiritual songs together with band concerts at each performance. Climaxing the first evening will be a display of fireworks in front of the grandstand.

Thursday will be Firemen's Day and will also feature a firemen's parade with a display of marching groups, bands and fire equipment preceding the evening performance. The sheep dog act will be repeated at both afternoon and evening performances, as well as the presentation on the second day of the Four Tones. As an added attraction Archie Royer's Western Revue, will also appear on Thursday's program. The audience will see "King, Wonder Horse," as he plunges under a hoop of fire; Little Willie and his "Funny Ford" and Piccolo Pete, one of America's outstanding trick mules.

Friday is "Poultry Day." The weekly poultry auction will be held in the livestock arena at the same time the afternoon horse show is presented in front of the grandstand. Both events will begin at 2 p. m. The evening performance will see the completion of the horse show and the band concert. The day's program will also feature events other than the auction.

Saturday is "Carnival Day." Tractor driving contests will be held for both young and old. At 1:15 p. m. the tournament will begin. This event is promoted by the Hardy County Tournament Association and a large number of knights from the area will be riding. The winners will crown the queen and maids before the grandstand at 8 Saturday evening.

The final event of the evening will be Dusty Shaver and his All Star Town and Country Revue.

Students Told Bluejeans Out

BEDFORD—Bedford and Everett School officials are agreed that bluejeans are out for young lady students this fall. But as far the boys are concerned the two schools differ.

Bedford High School Principal Arthur Townsend recently sent a letter to the parents of all BHS students, listing recommended articles of clothing for school wear. Among the articles listed as "not acceptable" were dungarees (commonly called bluejeans). Jeans were listed as unacceptable for wear by students of both sexes at BHS.

At Everett High School, Principal D. Raymond Mack said that while dungarees are not acceptable attire for girls, there has been no ban on their being worn by male students. Mack said that laboratories and shop classes necessitate boys wearing dungarees. He also said slacks, the cost of buying and cleaning slacks is another factor which led school officials to permit boys to wear jeans.

There is nothing new about Everett's ruling. Mack said it has been in effect since Everett Southern High School was completed in 1953.

Factory Fund Drive Slated

FROSTBURG—William Preston, chairman of the finance drive to secure funds for the construction of a building to house an undergarment factory here, has announced a meeting of all interested persons for today at 7:30 p. m. in the council chamber of City Hall.

Preston states that the campaign for pledges has now passed the half way point, and with a concerted effort the drive can be put "over the top" in the next few days.

Most of the pledges registered at headquarters to date have been made by private citizens, and are practically all in small denominations. "If the businessmen will only come through now with several sizeable pledges," Preston said, "the factory can be a reality."

The undergarment company has pledged $40,000 towards the construction of the building, and a number of new pledges have been received in the past few days, according to Preston.

Mayor Joseph James and Commissioners will be present at tonight's meeting, and it is hoped that a number of representatives of business places in the city also will be present.

American Loop Pennant Race Not Over Yet

Yankees' Lead Sliced As Red Sox Win In 11th

By FRED DE LUCA

NEW YORK—(INS)—Maybe Al Lopez knew what he was talking about when he said the American League pennant race wasn't over yet.

Everybody laughed when the Chicago White Sox manager insisted last week that the race was far from finished, despite the fact that his team had just taken three straight beatings from the New York Yankees.

But the Yanks have lost five of seven since sweeping the Sox, dropping two out of three to both Washington and Baltimore before opening the Boston series last night.

Unlike World Champions, the Yanks also lost to the Red Sox, 7 to 5, in 11 innings in a manner very unlike the world champions.

The Bronx Bombers got off to a quick start against Tom Brewer, scoring three times in the first two innings. But the Sox, touched by Bobby Shantz for two runs in the seventh.

As the ninth inning opened everything looked quiet until Jackie Jensen banged a homer to tie the score. The Sox went on to lead the bases and reserve catcher Pete Daley pinch hit a single to score two more runs off the usually reliable Whitey Ford.

But Mike Fornieles couldn't hold the lead in the ninth. The Yanks put one of their patented rallies to tie the score with one out on a walk, Jerry Lumpe's triple and Tony Kubek's double.

George Susce relieved Fornieles and the Yanks immediately loaded the bases on a walk and an infield hit. With Bill Skowron and Yogi Berra coming up, victory seemed assured for the Yanks.

Susce Not Concerned But Susce wasn't concerned with reputation. He struck out Skowron and forced Berra to ground out. The two teams battled through to the 11th when Daley homered off Tommy Byrne with a man on to give the win to Susce.

The defeat reduced New York's lead to five games with only four of the games in the important loss column. The way the Yanks are playing, their edge in losses may soon disappear.

In the only other American League game, Baltimore homed baby Jerry Walker allowed four hits as the Orioles edged Washington, 1 to 0, in ten innings.

In the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals nipped Milwaukee, 5 to 4, in 12 innings to cut the Braves' lead to 7-1/2 games. Brooklyn scored seven times in the eighth inning to crush Philadelphia, 12 to 3, and Pittsburgh blanked the New York Giants, 2 to 0, behind Bob Friend's seven-hit pitching. In a day doubleheader, Alvin Dark's sky pitched two-hit ball as the Chicago Cubs blanked Cincinnati, 1 to 0, but the Redlegs and Joe Nuxhall won the second, 7 to 2.

Error Hurts Braves The Cards scored four times in the first off Juan Pizarro and Ed Rice's three-run homer and Ed Mathews' round-tripper tied the score. It remained that way until rookie sensation Bob Hazle dropped Del Ennis' liner with the bases loaded and none out in the 12th. Herm Wehrmeister went to bat and won the game for the Cardinals.

Gil Hodges hit a three-run homer in the first inning off Don Newcombe and the Dodgers added two more before the Phils were able to get rid of Don Newcombe. The seven-run inning settled the issue.

Bonus Baby Mike McCormick of the Giants was friend's pitching victim as Dick Groat twice delivered his to score Gene Freese with the game's only runs. Cincinnati's Bud Podbielan allowed only three hits, one was made by Drabowsky, but one was Ernie Banks' 33rd homer that decided the game. It took only one hour and 37 minutes to play the contest, shortest game in the league in nearly five years.

In the second game, Nuxhall ended his record at 9-and-9 and Don Elston lost to make his record 5-and-6.

Baltimore's Walker outpitched Camillo Pascual with the deciding run scoring on Joe Ginsberg's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded.

Whether the Boids, under Richards, ever move up to the level at which he had the White Sox for several years remains to be seen, but one thing is certain. You can depend on Richards realizing the maximum potential from every player on the squad.

He doesn't know any other method. And Baltimore fans will soon be happier fans the year round.

Things are looking up for the state's American League entry. The tip of the hat for the best job done to either league must certainly go to Richards.

Top Export Item The leading item of export from Ireland to the United States is the Thoroughbred horse according to the Irish Export Board of Dublin. In 1956 Americans bought a total of $3,028,289 worth of Thoroughbreds from the Emerald Isle.

Quarterback Walter Fondren and Center Louis Del Monte are co-captains of the 1957 University of Texas football team.

Managers could do well in their efforts of chasing "the Yankees" the past 100 years (or so it seems) to cash in on some of the tricks of the trade used by Richards.

Paul employs three steps in working on a pitcher and changing him into a winning one. Being an ex-catcher, also has its effect but all three steps must succeed if a performer is destined to emerge from the shell of the castoff.

First, he makes certain that his new man has a sound arm. This is a job which he doesn't delegate to a subordinate. He finds out for himself.

Step No. 2 is to teach the pitcher, despite his experience or lack of it, the pitches necessary to what Paul thinks will be an adequate selection for him. Third he calls upon his coaches to help instill in the pitcher the "when-to" savvy. If all three steps are successful, then you get a pitcher like a Loes or a Moore or a Johnson at a bargain price.

Richards' success with his pitchers, both in Baltimore and elsewhere, traces directly to his own struggle to learn in the minors. Each man, and he emphasizes the point repeatedly, poses a different problem, and requires a different approach.

Wherever Richards has gone, he has always stirred things up, whether it is in D ball in the Eastern Shore League or as the pilot of the contending White Sox pushing the lordly Yankees. Now Baltimore is feeling the impact of his strong personality and his equally-strong knowledge.

Whether the Boids, under Richards, ever move up to the level at which he had the White Sox for several years remains to be seen, but one thing is certain. You can depend on Richards realizing the maximum potential from every player on the squad.

He doesn't know any other method. And Baltimore fans will soon be happier fans the year round.

YANKEE CONQUERORS LEAVE FIELD—Boston Red Sox catcher Pete Daley, whose two-run homer in the 11th inning defeated the New York Yankees in Yankee Stadium last night, extends his hand in congratulations to relief pitcher George Susce, right, as Susce walks off the field at end of game. Elks Given New Life, Bombard ODC, 14-6

By J. SUTER KEGG Evening Times Sports Editor Given new life with a top-sided 14-6 victory yesterday, the BPO Elks take the diamond this evening at Stitches Field all even with Outdoor Club in the Rocking Chair Softball League's championship playoff. Yesterday's contest squared the best-of-five event at one win apiece.

Today's tie-breaking battle is expected to find the opening game pitchers facing each other again. They would be Glenn Kauffman, Outdoor's fire-balling right-hander, and Bill Underdonk, the Elks' battle-hardened campaigner. The game is scheduled to start at 6 o'clock.

"Pistol Pete" Elliott, who was undefeated during the regular season with an 11-0 record, started for pennant-winning Outdoor yesterday. But the Elks returned the "Pistol" fire with a 15-hit cannonade from their big guns, exploding a feeling among some followers of the "Chair League" that the Outdoorsmen were invincible, and at the same time shattering an ODC win streak that had reached 15 games.

Gaffney Goes Route Jim Gaffney, second straight surprise pitching choice for the Elks, went the route and hurled shutout, one-hit ball for the first four innings. Gaffney took the hill after Dick Klavuhn, the Elks' biggest winner of the season with a 15-3 mark, complained about a sore arm.

Playing as if everything depended on the outcome, the Elks put little time in getting to "Pistol Pete." A walk to leadoff batter Lou Baker and singles by Johnny Cox, Bobby Keyser and Underdonk accounted for two runs in the first inning. The Elks picked up another in the third on Bob Pence's double and "Pooch" Orndorff's single, then played the game out of reach in the fourth with a nine-run cluster.

Elliott was shelled from the hill during this outburst, in which four of the Elks batted twice. Pete, whose big bat on Tuesday helped Outdoor cop the opener, was tagged for five hits in this frame, making a total of 12 he surrendered in 3 1/2 innings. He was also responsible for ten of the Elks' 14 runs.

Underdonk Homers After Underdonk ripped a sizzling drive down the left-field line that ricocheted off the bank for a two-run homer, Elliott got Pence to ground to short for the second out, but Bob Price followed with a scratch single and "Pete" dished out his fourth walk of the game, a free ride to first for Orndorff.

That finished Elliott and Jim Morrison was sent in by manager Cecil Grimes to pitch to the tenth batter of the inning. Bill Rupp, pinch hit for the reliever who proceeded to walk four straight batters, the last two of whom were in runs, before Gaffney forced Keyser at second for the final out.

At this stage it appeared the Elks were going to turn the whitewash brush on the Outdoorsmen who had used the weapon so effectively during the regular season. However, in spite of the 12-0 score, the defending double-crown champs were not to be outdone. They got to Gaffney about five minutes into the game with two runs in the fifth on a white birth certificate was produced by Van Johnson, a walk duce.

Dupas Receives Permit To Fight NEW ORLEANS—(INS)—The Louisiana State Athletic Commission has decided to permit third-ranked lightweight boxing contender Ralph Dupas to fight white opponents in the state, pending a court ruling on his racial status.

The 21-year-old boxer has a suit before civil district court in New Orleans asking that the city be ordered to issue him a birth certificate listing his race as white.

Area Football Season To Begin Tomorrow

The Potomac Valley Conference launches its 21st football season tomorrow afternoon and the area's newest high school eleven puts in its first appearance as the scholastic gridiron season shoves its foot into the sports scene.

Hancock High, beginning its football program this fall, will show its wares for the first time and also help the Blackhaws from Ridgeley get started as they tangle on the Ridgeley field.

Actually, for the weekend, ten teams will be launching their campaigns. Included will be the initial appearance of the state Class A and defending P.V.C. champs, Keyser High.

State's Top Win Streak Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's charges will be out to prolong the state's longest win streak as they start against Charles Town on Saturday in Keyser. The Tornado, racked by graduation losses from its championship club, has won 16 in a row—tops in the state.

Keyser whipped the Purple Panthers, 19-14, last fall in starting the campaign. The Blackhaws, with coach Tom O'Connor starting his second year, have eight lettermen returning. Pacing the attack will be Bill Scott, regular end last season, who has been converted to quarterback in the Ridgeley attack.

Scott, only a junior, is six-five and weighs 190 pounds. He was elected captain of the Hawks for the season. Other returning lettermen are Sterling Morris, guard; Elwood Lambert and David Baker, halfbacks; and Charles Fryer, fullback; Tom Gulbranson, end, and Francis Myers and Richard Burkhardt, tackles.

Hancock will be coached by Paul Imphong, industrial arts teacher who was instrumental in getting the sport started at the school. About two dozen players have been working out since the beginning of drills two weeks ago.

Kerns At Quarter Some of the Hancock boys will be playing in their first football game they have ever seen. The team will be built around quarterback Gene Kerns, star basketball player on the great Panther squad of the past season.

Wendell McKinley, a six-three, 185-pounder, will be at fullback with the halfbacks being Bobby Brannon and Jack Corbett.

In the P.V.C. Petersburg, one of the league's surprises last season, will be in Oakland to meet Southern while Berkeley Springs invades Pendleton County to meet Circleville.

The Indians, with William "Honey" Crites in his second season, finished second to Keyser last fall in the conference and had an overall record of eight wins and only one loss—a 19-14 setback to the Tornado.

This year's eleven boasts one of the top schoolboy stars in the area with the return of 175-pound John Frye at fullback. Frye was runner-up in the P.V.C. scoring race last season and one of the sparks of the 1956 team. The Vikings whipped Southern, 34-0, last season.

Frosh, Sophs Stand Out In SC Workouts

By The Associated Press

Freshmen and sophomores came in for special attention and praise at five of the 10 Southern Conference schools yesterday as coaches began to send their charges through rougher workouts.

Cosch Eddie Teague brought up four freshmen to the varsity at The Citadel after calling a rough workout "the best yet." Promoted were quarterback Jerry Nettles, halfback Lee Rhame and ends John Mayer and George Poole. Jack Griffin, No. 1 quarterback, suffered a sprained shoulder.

Virginia Tech went through a full speed blocking and tackling drill and Coach Frank Moseley praised the work of five sophomores — halfbacks Sam Shaffer and Dickie Snead, fullback Frank Eastman, center Chuck Stevens and guard Duncan Holsclaw.

A couple of sophomores, fullback Dave McCullough and tackle Frank Anderson, were impressive as Davidson's Wildcats went through their first scrimmage.

Newcomers impressive in a half-hour scrimmage at Richmond included freshman backs Art D'Arrigo and John Hoggis, freshman tackle Bob Huffman, freshman guard Bob Sizer and sophomore tackle J. P. Vass.

The first shift at VMI involved 200-pound sophomore Mike Ondes. Coach John McKenna moved Ondes, a tackle last year, to end, to offset the anticipated loss for some time of Tom Inge, injured in a summer accident.

West Virginia's Mountaineers went through their first scrimmage, and Coach Art Lewis said he was pleased with the freshman team's defense. Observers said halfbacks Ronnie Santolucia, Whitt Mikaniik and Bill McClure, quarterback "Mickey" Trimark and fullback Larry Krutko all looked good.

Quarterbacks Billy Baker and Marvin Starr spent most of Furman's workout pitching passes with ends Ray Siminski and Dick Pfeiffer on the receiving end.

George Washington's Colonials went through a hard head-knocking workout with no scrimmage. Coach Bo Sherman also sent the Colonials through blocking and tackling drills.

Halfbacks Dave Edmunds, Charlie Sidwell and Mike Chunta ran well in a short half-time scrimmage at William & Mary.

Patty Gets Davis Cup 'Screen Test' Today

By HOWARD SIGMUND

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. — (INS) — Budge Patty, the American tennis ambassador to the courts of Paris, gets his Davis Cup screen test today when he meets Australia's top-seeded Ashley Cooper in a quarter-final match of the National Tennis championships.

Patty, one of four American survivors in the round of eight, takes on the 20-year-old Cooper after Army Lt. Clifton Mayne of Fort Monmouth, N. J., strives to keep his "cinderella" role against third-seeded Sven Davidson of Sweden.

Would Play In Davis Cup

The 33-year-old Patty, former Wimbledon champion who is making his first appearance in the Nationals in five years, has informed the U.S. Davis Cup selection committee he'd be willing to make the challenge-round trip to Australia if he's allowed to play in the singles.

A victory over Cooper, Australia's young top banana for the Davis Cup defense, would net Paris-resident Patty a gilt-edged invitation to visit the land down under in December.

"Old reliable" Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Herb Flannery of Hills, Calif., gained the quarters yesterday but Dick Savitt, the oil man from South Orange, N. J., who was seeded second, was blasted out of the tournament by Australia's Mal Anderson.

Savitt Ousted

Anderson, a powerful 22-year-year, moved down the cold-suffering Savitt, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1. Anderson, ranked third in his country and a strong candidate for a challenge-round assignment, completely convinced the 30-year-old strongman from South Orange, N. J., that his oil job is more important than the Davis Cup trip.

Savitt, the Wimbledon king in 1951 but a part-time player these days, had been the object of the selection committee's affections before he was crushed in 48 minutes by Anderson. The big fellow turned down all initial Davis Cup bids and probably won't have to worry about getting any more.

In a sense, Anderson's upset of Savitt alone for Mayne's stunning upset over Aussie hotshot Neale Fraser in the second round.

But Seixas, the 34-year-old master who won the national title in 1954 and who is likely to carry the U.S. Davis Cup banner again, made certain the Aussies would get only one pleasant surprise yesterday.

The fourth-seeded Seixas put out Roy Emerson, 20-year-old Aussie whiz kid, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4, without once losing his service.

Flam Beats Aussie's Howe

And Flam, the business expert who took the $16,000 and quit on a national television show Tuesday night, reached the quarters and a match with Seixas Friday — when he gave the $64,000 answer to Australia's Robert Howe, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

Davidson and Chile's Luis Ayala became the third and fourth foreigners alive in the round of eight. Davidson was forced to four sets before he disposed of Britain's Robert Wilson, 6-7, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2, and Ayala kayaked Kurt Nielsen of Denmark, 6-4, 6-4, 6-6.

The fast-rising Ayala goes against Anderson on Friday. Two women's quarter-finals were scheduled at the swanky

Braves Show Fight, Won't Flub Pennant

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves are in. They're not going to flub it again.

Red faced Fred Haney, the manager, turns pale at the mere mention of pennant. He knocks on wood, tugs at the top of each ear, spits over his left shoulder and mutters half angrily:

"I don't know anything about any pennant. The only thing I'm saying now is we're playing them one game at a time and we'll see what happens. This is the funniest league I've ever seen. One day St. Louis is in first place. Two weeks later, they're 8½ behind after losing 12 of 13. Who knows? The same thing can happen to us. I keep cautioning my players against over-confidence. To hell with the standings. I tell them just to go out and play today's game."

Air Of Conquerors

The players themselves act like a team with the pennant in their teeth. The veterans, like Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette, have the air of conquerors who know they can't be stopped. It is this air of confidence, more so than the victories themselves, that is causing many Milwaukeeans to consider the pennant race as all over but the celebrating.

Certainly it's still possible for the Braves to lose. But it's highly unlikely that they will and it's only a matter of time.

"This is not 1956," he declared. "Essentially it is the same club that lost to Brooklyn last year but in many ways it is a far different club. For one thing, the attitude is different. It is more determined, more polished, more mature and it has worked much harder. Losing last year taught them a great deal."

Remember Reception

"Last year there wasn't a more disgusted group of players than the ones who flew back to Milwaukee after we blew the pennant in St. Louis. No one dreamed that there would be any people meeting us at the airport."

"Not only were there 20,000 at the airport but instead of booing us for losing, they put their arms around us and hugged us. 'Never mind, fellows,' many of them said. 'We'll get 'em next year.' You just can't imagine what an effect this had on the players. You just can't experience something like that and not be moved. That demonstration undoubtedly made the team more determined this year."

Naturally, it took more than attitude, determination and fan reaction.

Next—The contributing factors to the Braves' high station.

Player Of Day Gets Pitching Over In Hurry

By International News Service

Myron (Mac) Drabowsky is a young man in a hurry.

When the 22-year-old right-hander goes to the mound for the Chicago Cubs, he wastes no time, eliminating excess motion to concentrate on the business of retiring the batter.

Allows Only Two Hits

He proved that yesterday when he hurled the Cubs to a 1-to-0 win over Cincinnati. Drabowsky allowed just two hits as the game was rattled off in one hour and 37 minutes, the fastest contest in nearly five years.

Drabowsky gave up his first hit when Johnny Temple tripled to open the seventh, but the fast-baller quickly retired the next three batters, two on strikes, to preserve his shutout.

Signs Bonus Pact

The Cubs signed Drabowsky to a bonus contract off the campus of Trinity College in July, 1956. That saved him from wasting all the time of working his way up through the minors.

But he still wants to complete his college education as an economics major. Last September, he left the Cubs and rushed back to Trinity for the fall semester.

The 5-foot-3, 190-pounder is one of the few major league athletes who was born outside the United States. Drabowsky was born in Ozaneta, Poland, and was brought to the U.S. in 1933 at the age of three.

Stringtown, 8-5 victor over Fossilville yesterday, will meet the Penny club at the Hyndman softball field tomorrow, 5:45 p.m., in the second game of their series. Ray Troutman hurled the victory for the County League club yesterday.

Det. Roy Riveiro said Mrs. Martin was "quite intoxicated" when questioned about the incident yesterday but charged that Pep shot her.

The officer said she had been instrumental in the arrest of Pep and Russo in a recent gambling case.

Fullmer Opens Campaign To Regain Crown

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—Former middleweight champion Gene Fullmer opened a campaign to regain his crown immediately following his bruising unanimous decision over Chico Vejar last night.

Manager Marv Jensen said Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, "has promised Gene a shot at the winner of the Basilio-Robinson fight." Sugar Ray Robinson, the middleweight champion, and Carmen Basilio, the welterweight titleholder, fight for Robinson's crown in New York City's Yankee Stadium Sept. 23.

The Fullmer-Vejar fight last night was televised nationally. ABC, Fullmer, of West Jordan, weighed 158½. Vejar, of Stamford, Conn., 157.

Judge Del Markham scored it 47-41, Judge Bob Yokum had it 50-38 and Referee Ken Shulsen had it 49-42, all for Fullmer.

Gene showed a crowd of more than 9,000 why he still is ranked the No. 1 middleweight contender. Fullmer sent Vejar sprawling to the canvas with a right-left-right combination in the third round. Vejar got up at seven but had to take the mandatory nine-count. Gene also had Chico groggy at the end.

Vejar's best rounds were the sixth and seventh. Fullmer said Chico was beating him to the punch but "Marv told me to start pressing him" and that ended Vejar's rally.

It was part of "Fullmer against the world" night at the outdoor arena in West Jordan, about eight miles south of Salt Lake City.

Gene's two younger brothers, Jay and Don, also appeared on the card. And both scored knockouts.

Yanks, Indians In Kids' Finale

Yankees will be after their second straight title in the Lonaconcord Little League when they face Indians this evening, 5:45, at the Glass Factory field. The teams have split in the best-of-three finals.

Red Sox won the season pennant with a 5-1 record with Indians and Yanks tied for second on 8-4 marks while Braves were fourth with a 6-4 showing. The Sox were eliminated in three games of the semi-finals.

Yanks while Indians were extended the limit in disposing of Braves.

"Bub" Gardner pilots the Yanks while Sam Smith is manager of the Indians. George Kirkwood led the Sox to the season crown while Earl Lease managed the Braves. This is the fifth year for the loop with Dodgers taking the first title, followed by Red Sox and Indians with Yanks finishing on top last summer.

This donation drive was conducted by co-captain Charley Bruckman. He collected the same amount from each member of the 1957 football team.

Pitt played in the Sugar Bowl on Jan. 2, 1956 and remembered the wonderful hospitality of the people of New Orleans and Louisiana.

Basilio Again Tosses Verbal Shots At Sugar

ALEXANDRIA BAY (AP) — When a fighter says he doesn't like an opponent, you normally can discount it as ballyhoo. In the case of Carmen Basilio, it sounds like the real thing.

"How can you like a guy who does the things that he (Sugar Ray Robinson) has done?" asked Basilio at his training camp in the Thousand Islands. "I'm a fighter. He's a fighter. How can he look down on other fighters?"

Basilio, seven years younger than Robinson at 30, says he has a double-pronged motive in beating the Harlem Sugar dandy. "He has caused a lot of people a lot of aggravation and somebody has to get even with him. Secondly, he wants all the money so let him take all the licking."

Basilio claims he wasn't upset about Robinson's sidown strike that threatened to call off their Sept. 23 match at Yankee Stadium.

"I knew he wasn't going to pull out," he said. "It didn't bother me. He wouldn't dare pull out now. They'd hang him."

As for the fight itself, Basilio makes only one prediction. "I'm going to win. It's possible it might go 15 rounds but regardless, Basilio is going to win."

"This is the one fight I have to win," said Basilio, the welter champion. "It's my whole career rolled up into one fight. I'd like to be remembered as the man who finished off Ray Robinson."

UMPIRE

By BEANS REARDON

Written for NEA Service

QUESTION: The batter swings at a third strike, misses, and the ball then hits him. Is he entitled to first base or must the catcher tag him out or what? — Bob Corcoran.

Answer: He is automatically out.

Q. With a fast runner on first, the batter, a slow-footed man, lines to the third baseman. The fielder deliberately drops the ball, then throws to second. He clearly did it in order to have the slow man on base. Do umpires allow this? — Jerry Williams.

A. No. The batter is automatically out and the runner remains on first.

Q. The runner from third heads home with the pitcher's motion. The batter fouls tips the ball. The catcher holds it, but is too late putting his tag on the runner. Isn't this the same case as a foul ball and the runner returns to third? — Paul Deitz.

A. No. A foul tip is not played as a foul ball, so the runner is safe here.

Wall Street Hears.....

NEW YORK — (INS) — Wall Street Hears: Deere & Co., which earned $3.24 in the 9 months to July 31 vs. $1.44 in the previous year when it was hurt by strike, may show $4 or better net this year. But International Harvester, which reported $1.20 vs. $1.56 for the six months, may not do much better than $2.75 vs. $3.16 a year ago.

Sometime next year, Thomson & McKinnon predicts, meat packers should have more profitable opportunities, particularly Swift and Morrell.

Entering the new year for business which begins with Labor Day, Francis I. du Pont finds "more economic and stock market clouds, on an intermediate basis, than have been witnessed in some time." To hedge, the firm advises a two-way investment policy: Holding of undervalued shares along with substantial reserves of buying power.

Talking of tempting foods, Harris, Upham cites these high yields: American Baking, 6.7 per cent; Continental Baking, 6.8 per cent; Sunshine Biscuits, 5.6 per cent; United Biscuit, almost 5 per cent.

Market comment — Walter Merrill of Laidlaw & Co.: "It is probable that the lows for the decline have been registered."

Ralph Bellamy Lauded For His Powerful Role In "Triumph"

By JACK O'BRIAN
NEW YORK — (INS) — Ralph Bellamy may have at one time or another turned in somewhat less than a professional TV performance, but if so we weren't present to witness it—and his powerful portrayal in last night's "Triumph" on Kraft Theatre was one of his best. He is a dependable pillar of strength in many shows and his walloping, dedicated theatrical intelligence has lifted many a role beyond its seeming script problems.

Last night's Kraft opus was a parallel set in an executive suite, the general plot fair-to-maudlin—about a tycoon who goes blind, terribly nobly—its dialogue better in detail than the whole story suggested.

Add to this Bellamy's inexorable economic and stock market sag: Eddy Stanky: A stubborn, firm advises a two-way investment policy: Holding of undervalued shares along with substantial reserves of buying power.

Talking of tempting foods, Harris, Upham cites these high yields: American Baking, 6.7 per cent; Continental Baking, 6.8 per cent; Sunshine Biscuits, 5.6 per cent; United Biscuit, almost 5 per cent.

Market comment — Walter Merrill of Laidlaw & Co.: "It is probable that the lows for the decline have been registered."

Helping immeasurably were Betty Field, looking and acting better than in most of her TV appearances, the dependable Henry Jones, and a solidly produced and directed TV play, well up to mid-winter form.

Steve Lawrence took over Helen O'Connell's NBC-TV time last night and mightily well; Steve sang "Come Rain Or Come Shine," by Harold Arlen; co-incidentally, both Steve's and Harold's dads were cantors by trade.

John Barrymore Jr., on "Masquerade Party" exhibited a lot of cheerful stature. The kid's got it.

Sophie Tucker tipped her identity with her first syllable.

Press agent did the sweet-smell-of-success bit and wormed $200 a week from a quiz winner then coaxed him into a $2,500 loan to a pal "for a month," the puzzled quiz kid finally finding out when the month was up that his $2,500 note may be his only keepsake—although the D. A. will be called in.

NBC-TV is absolutely certain Hal March will enice its "What's It For?" quiz Oct. 12, although Hal's 64G Question sponsor still is deep in the backstage legal battle to head him off at the alleged breach of contract.

John Parsons, the San Francisco man handling theatre-TV of the Robinson-Basilio fight in that area stands to take home $100,000.

Joan Caulfield's CBS series is called "Sally" because Gertrude "Molly Goldberg" Berg insisted on her considerable prior legal title.

Because there has been considerable dissatisfaction expressed by art lovers that the Miss America contestants weren't exhibited in bathing suits during previous annual Atlantic City selections, the CBS-TV coverage (for uncovers) this year will have lots of film footage, hippage, bustage, etc., shot on the Atlantic City sands before the evening-frocked final formalities.

"Thing" Haunts Yemassee, S. C.

YEMASSEE, S. C. — (INS) — "The Thing," a science fiction-type creature which first made its appearance in Yemassee, S. C., several years ago and then disappeared, is haunting the little community again today.

Town officials met to plot a way of hunting down the weird animal which disappeared last year in the midst of a search.

Few people in the community have seen the creature which thrives in a neighboring forest, but all of them claim to have heard it.

It has been seen through field glasses, however, and is described as a lionish looking animal, four legged, about five feet in length, five feet high with a bushy tail. It is yellow-brown colored. The creature's hideous howling is its main trademark.

A small armed search party went into the woodlands last year to track down "The Thing," as the Yemassee people call it. During the search, the howling stopped and the town had a year of quiet until the beast's familiar growls were heard again yesterday.

Plans are again being made to form another hunting squad, but officials warned the search will have to wait for cooler weather until snakes go into hibernation.

need to take the club finesse. If that finesse went wrong and he also lost three spade tricks he would be down one at his three no-trump contract.

If he had ducked the first spade lead that is exactly what would have happened to him. East would have taken the queen and returned the suit.

South did not duck that first lead. He decided that a barrier play was called for and went right up with dummy's ace. If East had dropped the eight on that trick the barrier play would have succeeded. Declarer would have knocked out West's ace of hearts and the defense would not have been able to collect their three spade tricks.

East was Mrs. D. J. Cook of Winnetka, Ill. Mrs. Cook had seen barrier plays before and realized exactly what the immediate play of the spade ace implied. She saw a probable counter for the play this time and proceeded to drop her queen under the ace.

When West got in with the ace of hearts he realized that Mrs. Cook had dropped her queen of spades to get out of the way of his king-jack-nine. He also realized that he had to wait for her to get in to lead spades to him.

West led a club. Mrs. Cook took her king of clubs and returned the spade to complete the nullification of South's nice barrier play.

McCullough Under Attack In Shore Area

Group Wants Former County Man To Quit Talbot School Post

EASTON, Md. (AP)—The anti-integration Talbot County Citizens Association will demand the resignation of School Superintendent Raymond O. McCullough, it was declared today by Harry A. Spies, organization president.

He made the announcement as two pickets carrying signs and a man who used profane language were arrested as eight Negro children entered two Easton integrated schools today.

Spies said the demand will be made at a Board of Education meeting Wednesday. McCullough was formerly principal of Allegany High School, Cumberland, and Central High, Lonaconing.

"A man who believes in integration has no business at the head of our school board," Spies stated.

About 30 segregationists gathered at Easton Primary School about 30 minutes before classes were to begin. There was no attempt to prevent seven Negroes from entering the school and other than two arrests there was no disturbance.

The third arrest occurred about a half mile away at the Easton Elementary School where the lone Negro student enrolled entered the building without incident.

About eight policemen shuttled between the two schools in two patrol cars.

The estimated 30 segregationists who appeared at the primary school moved on to the elementary school after the arrest of a woman picket and an unidentified man accused of using profane language.

Francis Berry, who operates a warehouse where the anti-integration Talbot County Citizens Assn. meets, was arrested at the primary school about five minutes after he arrived.

He carried a sign which read, "Let's Keep Our White Schools All White."

Police, acting on orders of State's Atty. Henry P. Turner who had warned that picketing to prevent integration would be illegal, told Berry to leave. They said he refused and when they threatened to arrest him, they said he replied, "Well, you'll have to arrest me."

They did.

An unidentified man also was arrested at the primary school for using profane language.

At the elementary school, Mrs. O. N. Andrews was arrested after ignoring a police warning to put away a sign which read, "If we want our grandchildren and great-grandchildren to be all white, let's keep our schools all white."

Police said two other sign-carrying women pickets heeded warnings at the elementary school and put away their placards.

Mrs. Grace Lyons, principal of Easton Primary, said about 380 children, including the seven Negroes—three in the first grade, three in the second and one third grader—came to school today. That was the total expected, she said.

Last year, about 25 per cent. of the school's white children stayed away from class about two weeks protesting the start of integration.

Spies, a farmer, was with the group at the primary school.

"We may have to go home and get our shotguns," he said. But he was indecisive about plans for the rest of the day, except to say members of the association probably would remain at both schools.

"The police made the laws at by themselves," Spies said. He accused the law enforcement officers of denying people the right to assemble.

The citizens association warned last week it would picket schools if Negroes attempted to enter today.

It was then that Turner, the State's attorney, announced that picketing to protest racial matters would lead to arrest.

In Brantford, Ontario a suitcase filled with voodoo dolls and shrunken images was stolen from the parked car of Robert Williams, a show manager of Pontiac, Mich. The suitcase and contents were recovered, but police haven't been able to catch up with the apparently frightened thief.

State Usage Of Coal Urged By Operators

The budget and finance committees of the Legislative Council yesterday heard a group of coal mine owners and operators from Allegany and Garrett counties at a meeting at City Hall in Baltimore.

The purpose of the hearing was to air the purchase and use of coal for heating state-owned buildings and institutions. Over a period of time, there has been a switch to use of oil in heating some structures and the subsequent reduction of coal.

Where feasible, Maryland institutions are required to buy Maryland coal for its institutions.

George M. Hughes, minority floor leader and a delegate from Allegany County, said Frank Powers, chief of the Maryland Bureau of Mines and Glenn Coyle, of the National Coal Institute, presented information on the question. They introduced data to show that in Maryland, it is more economical to heat these particular buildings and institutions with Maryland-mined coal, and that the quality of coal produced in Allegany and Garrett counties is high.

Last year about 100,000 tons of coal were purchased by the state, and an increase of 2,000 or more tons is anticipated this year, with hoped-for increases on about that same basis for the next few years. James J. O'Donnell of the Department of Public Improvement also was present.

Among the coal operators from this area were William and Philip Jenkins, J. Wallace Close and Chelsie A. Liller, Senator Clifford Friend, who is a member of the finance committee, was excused from the committee session to speak in behalf of coal producers from Garrett County, Hughes noted.

Hughes presided at the hearing, along with John Luber, Speaker of the House.

Hughes suggested that the outcome of the hearing will probably be a resolution requesting the Department of Public Improvement to consult with the Mine Bureau when planning the heating for any new state buildings, and to make every effort consistent with sound economy to heat the buildings with coal.

They've invited members of 44 women's clubs and garden groups to meet with them Nov. 7 for a consumers-merchants forum and sound off on how merchants can do a better job of serving the community.

"We'll get some gripes, but we expect them to be constructive," said James Barr, executive secretary of the Bethesda-Chevy Chase Chamber of Commerce.
